

ANOTHER BROKERAGE OF NEW YORK FAILS; MORE THAN SEVENTY YEARS OLD

Knauth, Nachod, and Kuhne Drops Out According to Announcement On Saturday—Latest of Series
of Sensational Suspensions.

New York, June 16.—Failure of the stock brokerage firm of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne was announced on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange today.

It was estimated that the liabilities were $11,000,000, but a members of the firm claimed that they were fully covered by assets.

This is the latest of a sensational series of suspensions which have taken place in Wall Street in the past ten weeks.

The firm of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne, which has been in business for more than 70 years, consists of Rollin C. Newton, Mrs. Mary I. W. Knauth, Oscar L. Gubelman and James F. Shaw.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against the firm in U. S. District Court and Middleton S. Borland was appointed receiver under bond of $50,000.

The following statement was issued by a member of the firm:

"For the protection of all of our creditors, we have consented to the appointment of a receiver for our firm which has had an honorable career for more than 70 years. We are advised that, in this manner, all the equities of creditors can best be preserved so that none will be favored nor preferred over another. It will be found that all securities entrusted to our care are intact and we hope to effect a satisfactory settlement with our creditors at the earliest possible date."

We own a considerable number of securities which have value, and which on account of market and other conditions, are not readily salable and which, we hope, if conserved and wisely liquidated, will, together with our assets, be found sufficient to pay everything we owe. We will, of course, co-operate with the receiver in every way.

The firm of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne was admitted to the New York stock exchange March 28, 1895. It conducted a banking and broker business with headquarters at 120 Broadway.

The bankruptcy petition estimated the firm's debts at $11,000,000. The petition designated the firm's collateral as stocks, bonds and other properties, values at $11,000,000.

Almost simultaneous with the announcement of the failure, a committee of creditors was formed to act both for the creditors as a whole and depositors.

Certain banks, which are secured creditors, will be represented on the committee, but they will give mutual assistance to unsecured creditors.

The creditors who sought the petition in bankruptcy were Otto Volkmann, Arthur Loewenheim, Harry M. Smith, Marvin G. Connelly and Archibald H. Whan.

CONFERENCE FOR AIR LIMITATION BEING AGITATED

Congress Likely to Demand
That President Call
World Meeting

Washington, June 16.—With France and Great Britain engaged in a quiet, but nevertheless intense race for supremacy of the air, the sixty-eighth Congress which convenes next December is going to demand that President Harding inaugurate another world arms conference to do what the Washington conference failed to do—limit the production of aircraft and submarines.

Sentiment in the last Congress was in favor of such a move and insistent action was withheld only at the instance of the White House and state department where the time is not deemed propitious.

The sentiment in the new congress, however, is going to be stronger. It was declared today by Rep. Thomas S. Butler, Republican of Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval committee.

"Something will have to be done soon," said Butler, "or the next war will bring conflict so horrible that the horrors of the last war will seem pale by comparison. Airplanes and gas were in their infancy during the last war and see what havoc they did. With all the advance that has been made in the last few years the development of the terrible weapons, the next conflict may see whole races wiped out and civilization itself destroyed."

The proper time for issuance of a call for such a conference, Butler said is next spring. By that time, he believes many of the disputes and controversies that now make the summoning of such a conference in advisable, will be adjusted and the world will be in a better condition to listen to it.

W. C. T. U. MEMBERS ATTEND ALL DAY INSTITUTE FRIDAY

About 85 members of the Xenia W. C. T. U., attended the Union Institute held at the home of Mrs. John Dymond, at Washington and Monroe Streets, Friday.

The session opened at nine o'clock with devotionals. Following music selections by the Misses Dorothy Crawford, and Imogene Dean, a round-table discussion, in charge of Mrs. W. O. Custis, was held on "Why I Am A White Ribboner."

The discussion of various phases of the work of the union, developed the fact that four women, who were among the Crusaders in Xenia, a number of years ago, were members of the Xenia Union.

The main address of the morning session was that of F. H. Young, of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, who talked on "Child Welfare." Mr. Young pointed out the need of social work among the young people, dwelling on the right heritage of children, and their supervision in order that they become useful citizens of the country.

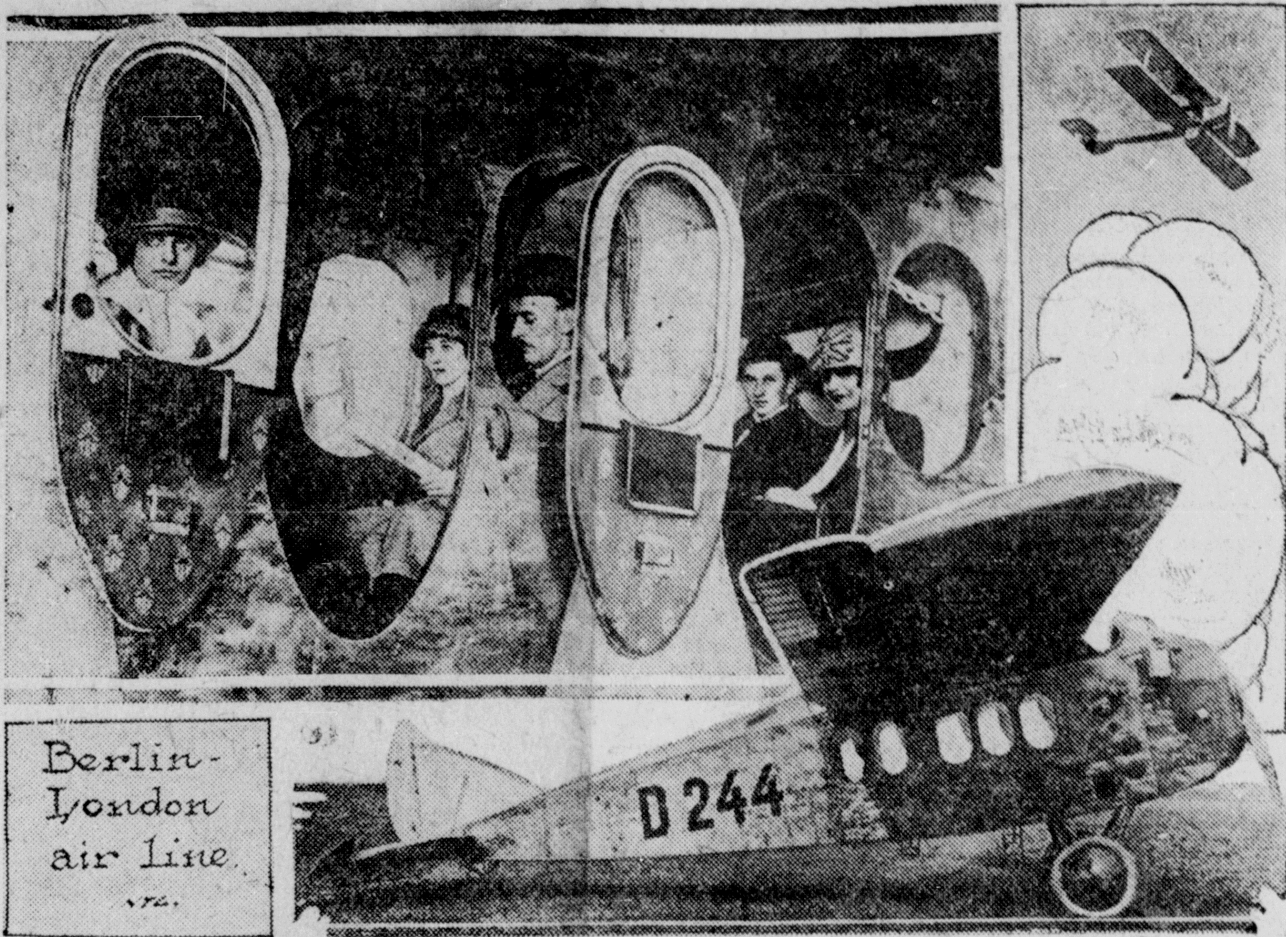

Fifty people were present for the noonday luncheon, which was followed by instrumental selections by Miss Mary Noble and Miss Lucile Denham.

The Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, pastor of the Friends' Church, gave a talk along the line of "Christian Citizenship," stressing the value of the projects of the W. C. T. U., and the benefits derived by its members.

"An Hour With the Children," was the subject of the interesting talk given by Miss Ervin, world and national secretary of the L. T. L., who told of her insight into the work among children, while touring through the eastern states recently.

Colorful and vivid descriptions of Honolulu were given by Mrs. D. W. Cosley, Miss Hazel Ary gave a reading before the members.

Lumber Yard At Sidney Swept By Fire Early Saturday Causing Loss Of $350,000

Sidney, O., June 16.—All buildings and property of the William Klipstine Lumber Company plant and yards, South Walnut Street, one of the largest subsidiary organizations of the Kuntz Lumber company, Dayton, are but a smoldering charred ruins as the result of a fire which swept all before it early Saturday morning.

Total loss as the result of the blaze is estimated at $350,000. The property was covered by insurance.

The plant will be rebuilt at once, according to Peter Kuntz, head of the Peter Kuntz company, associate lumberman, who arrived this morning from Dayton to view the ruins.

The north end of the plant was all ablaze when the fire was first discovered at 4:30 a. m. The Sidney fire department was called. Firemen endeavored to check the blaze—but so far had the conflagration progressed before it was discovered, that it was soon found impossible to save any of the buildings.

Firemen then devoted their attention to preventing the flames spreading to the three storage tanks containing gasoline and oil at an oil station of the Refiners' Oil company, about one hundred feet way from the burning lumber plant.

Besides the buildings of the company, three carloads of lumber standing on a siding near the plant were consumed by the flames.

The greatest loss was the main building, a large structure 200 by 150 feet. The brick office building, though completely destroyed inside, was the only building of the plant left standing. There were three other buildings destroyed, among them the large mill room, 100 by 50 feet.

The company had just laid in a complete stock of lumber. This together with the real property of the plant, met destruction by the blaze.

William Klipstine, manager of the plant, was in Cincinnati on business.

Two double houses across the street from the Klipstine yard caught fire and were burned with their contents. The houses were occupied by the families of David Oldham, G. E. Shade, William Stroul, William Eberle and James Miller. No insurance was carried on the buildings, but the furniture was partially covered.

FIVE ALLEGED DESPERADOES ARE CAPTURED IN CENTRAL OHIO

High Officials Admit Arrests Are Among Most Important Ever Made in That Part of the State—Takes Place Near Newark.

Newark, O., June 16.—What is admitted by high officials in government circles to be one of the most important captures ever made in central Ohio was completed at 4 o'clock this morning by Sheriff Fred Vogelmeier and specially deputized men, in a large barn near Central City, three miles west of here at daybreak today. The posse surrounded the barn and Sheriff Vogelmeier climbed up into the hay mow where the five men slept and called to them to surrender, which they did without a struggle. They gave the names of Carl Halsey, 32, native of Australia; John Harley, 49, Boston, Mass.; J. S. Brown, 32, Steubenville, O.; Dave Tallman, 25, Clark, W. Va. and James Scott, 51, "home anywhere."

One thousand dollars, all in currency, was found secreted in various parts of the clothing of all the men. A search for an automobile the men are known to have ridden in is being made and a search of the premises is also going on.

A tip several weeks ago, told that a party of fourteen desperate men, all heavily armed, were committing robberies, in this and other sections. Hence the close watch since.

The whole affair is being kept as much of a secret as possible, but it was admitted that one of the five captured is wanted for having murdered a man during a recent robbery. The search for the other nine men of the party is still going on.

FLOOD REACHES SERIOUS STAGE IN THE WEST

Lincoln, Neb., June 16.—The flood in the Platte river valley was reaching a serious stage today. The South Platte river at Ogallala, Neb., was out of its banks, flooding homes in that town and was continuing to rise. Residents here were hurriedly seeking higher ground.

Neither County commissioners had been notified Monday of the flood danger but had failed to take preventive measures.

The rain soaked section in Northwestern Nebraska near Norfolk, was visited by a severe tornado late yesterday which did much damage to crops and farm buildings, but failed to strike a single village.

MINERS WILL MAKE FIGHT FOR INCREASE IN THEIR WAGES

Pittsburg, Pa., June 16.—Defeat of conservative forces of the United Mine Workers in the Scranton anthracite representing 50,000 miners, when Rinaldi Cappellini was elected president over William J. Brennan, is taken here to mean the miners will make a determined fight for a big increase in wages and shorter hours.

This action, it was declared, is expected to disrupt plans for successful negotiations between miners and operators in July when the new contract will be considered. Brennan represented the conservative or administration element of the anthracite workers, while Cappellini, former mine worker organizer, is said to be extreme in his policies. The election was held yesterday and unofficial returns today indicated that result.

Federal fuel distributor Frank R. Wadleigh recently declared at Washington that should radicals get control of the anthracite fields a serious fuel crisis might be precipitated.

LAW ENFORCEMENT LAX IS ALLEGATION

Steubenville, O., June 16.—Lax law enforcement with particular reference to prohibition laws in Steubenville, and all parts of Jefferson County, despite the numerous big raids made locally the past few weeks by state and federal officers will come to a climax early next week when State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald, attorney general C. C. Crabbe and others come here as the result of an appeal made by the Jefferson County dry league.

An immense dry enforcement meeting will be held Monday evening and earlier in the day the state officers will hold conferences with local officials. Various cities, township and county officials have been notified of the conferences. Fines aggregating $4,500 were assessed yesterday by Judge Carl H. Smith, against the officers of the Steuben Club, the scene of a sensational state raid late Thursday. The club, one of the most prominent in the city, was ordered closed.

NAVAL BALLOONS ARE FIRED UPON

Washington, June 16.—Aroused by recent gunfire attacks on balloons flying over the state of West Virginia, the Navy Department announced today that every effort would be made to apprehend the person responsible.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt addressed a letter to Governor Morgan of West Virginia, asking his co-operation in breaking up this practice.

HANDCUFFS SPOIL THE EVENING FOR CLEVELAND STUDENT

Cleveland, O., June 16.—There's one university school youth who swore a solemn oath today never to voluntarily don handcuffs again.

Last night the young man was at the home of his "best girl" in East Cleveland, waiting to escort her to the commencement dance. While he waited the girl's father showed him a curious pair of handcuffs. The young man tried them on. There was a click. The handcuffs locked.

Efforts to unlock them were futile. The sheriff's office was called. An assortment of keys tried, but it was not until the orchestra at the dance was playing "Three o'clock in the morning" that the youth was released. Neither boy nor girl was present.

NO FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR SERGEANT AT ARMS

Columbus, O., June 16.—Since no funds for the payment of a successor to the late Colonel E. S. Bryant, former sergeant at arms of the Ohio Senate, would be available unless authorized by the Legislature, it is probable that no appointment to the position will be made, until the State Legislature again convenes.

Colonel Harry Knox Marietta, who served as sergeant and custodian during the illness of Colonel Bryant throughout the last session, had been slated to receive the appointment, it is said.

BALKAN VOLCANO AGAIN THREATENING TO SWEEP AWAY EUROPE'S PEACE

Macedonians Organize Nationalist Movement Demanding
Autonomy—Refugees Declare Civil War
Exists in Bulgaria.

Athens, June 16.—The Balkan volcano again is threatening eruption today as a result of the Bulgarian overthrow. Fugitives reaching the Thracian frontier declare that the Sofia uprising which overturned the Stamboulsky government, was distinctly militaristic.

Macedonians have organized a nationalist movement, demanding Macedonian autonomy. Any attempt to set up an independent republic in Macedonia would be sure to lead to international difficulties.

Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania may join hands in active resistance if the Macedonians attempt to set up autonomy.

Belgrade, June 16.—Refugees arriving today from Bulgaria report that civil war exists there.

(Note: Declarations by Bulgarian refugees of civil war in Bulgaria is contradicted by claims of the revolutionary government at Sofia. According to news given out, through the Sofia military censor, the armed peasant bands are suppressed and order is being restored.)

London, June 16.—While the Bulgarian legion formally denied today that the new revolutionary government at Sofia is militaristic, press advices from various Balkan centers reported that the Bulgarian government was taking warlike measures.

According to a Daily News dispatch from Athens, Greek officials claim the Sofia government has concentrated 70,000 troops. It is reported that hundreds of bands of Bulgarian irregulars have cast their lot with the government against the peasant "orange guard."

The Sofia correspondent of the Times reported severe fighting in which the casualties were heavy. Revolutionary leaders believe they will have little difficulty in putting down counter revolution now that former Premier Alexander Stamboulsky, the peasant leader, is dead.

Peasant bands, carrying flags of truce, were alleged to have fired upon revolutionary troops. The latter returned the fire. In some instances the peasant forces were almost annihilated.

Great Britain is getting somewhat anxious over the effect of the Bulgarian overthrow upon Balkan tranquility. The foreign office may query Bulgaria officially as to her intentions regarding her neighbors.

To reassure the powers, the Bulgarian legation issued a statement today saying that Bulgaria could not go to war. The little entente has no ground for fears, continued the communique, for the other Balkan armies could overpower anything that Bulgaria is able to raise in a military way.

EARLY ACTION ON IMMIGRATION PROBLEM ASKED

Bootlegging of Aliens Beyond Control of U. S. Officials

Washington, June 16.—The immigration problem, which recently has developed some alarming aspects, occupied chief attention at the cabinet meeting.

Conditions at Ellis Island, resulting this week in the resignation of Immigration Commissioner Robert E. Tod, came in for a large part of the discussion.

After the cabinet session a White House spokesman made two important announcements. They were: First, congress will be urged by the administration as soon as it meets in December to pass Secretary of Labor Davis' bill for the registration of all aliens. This legislation is desired as a means of stopping the growing influx of foreigners coming into the United States illegally and to help in the task of Americanizing those lawfully admitted. Second, President Harding has ordered a rigid investigation of the charges made by Commissioner Tod in presenting his resignation.

The imperative necessity for early action to solve the immigration problem was stressed before the cabinet by Secretary Davis. "Bootlegging" of aliens, he frankly stated, is getting out of hand.

Secretary Davis told of one case of 5,000 Chinese who have deserted ships on which they came into New York as members of the crews and are now working under cover in and around the metropolis. He estimated it will cost the government upwards of a million dollars to round up these inadmissibles and deport them.

Deportations already have begun where with the small force available it has been possible to locate some of the Chinese, the secretary stated, but the task confronted is an extremely difficult one and will require a large number of men and considerable time, as well as funds, to complete. The possibility is that many of the orientals never will be apprehended.

"Bootlegging" of aliens is being carried on more or less extensively at many places on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts and along the borders between the United States and Canada and Mexico.

Frequent efforts to smuggle in Chinese from Cuba have been apprehended by immigration agents, operating in Florida. Orientals have been slipping in on the Pacific coast for years, largely by desertions from ships. The influx across the border from Mexico and Canada also has been extensive, it is stated.

The White House spokesman said the "bootlegging" of aliens was one of the most troublesome problems now confronted by the government in its law enforcement endeavors. Investigation has revealed apparent collusion between parties in other countries and here.

DEBT CONFERENCE WILL BE ENDED

Washington, June 16.—Conferences over the final wording of the British-American debt agreement probably will be resumed next week, officials of the American commission said today.

British Ambassador Geddes with new instructions from his government, is said to be ready to communicate to this government the willingness of the British to furnish this government with ample advance notice of intention to exercise the option of paying in liberty bonds or cash the regular installments already agreed upon.

Members of the American commission insisted that the British should inform the United States ahead of time when it is proposed to meet the payment in bonds. The form of payment would have an influence in treasury financing to meet its own requirements.

ITALY TO SUPPORT BRITISH RUHR POLICY

London, June 16.—Italy has indicated she will support Great Britain's Ruhr policy, it was learned today.

A Central News dispatch from Rome said the fascist press opposed France's demand that Germany cease passive resistance in the Ruhr before reparations negotiations open.

Great Britain will make no further move until France replies to the British memorandum, demanding more light upon France's Ruhr policy and especially the French definition of "passive resistance."

It is reported that Premier Poincare may propose an entirely new reparations scheme.

The French reply is expected about Wednesday.

FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF HALF MILLION

Pittsburgh, June 16.—Fire raging at the Atlantic Refining Company's plant here today has so far caused damage of $500,000 and the injury of fourteen firemen. The city was swept by dense smoke from the spectacular blaze which started late yesterday when an oil tank was struck by lightning. A fire zone a mile square was established.

"DOOLEY" UNDER THE KNIFE.

New York, June 16.—"Mr. Dooley" still lives. Finley Peter Dunne, not dead humorist and creator of "Mr. Dooley," operated upon at Roosevelt hospital for gall stones, is rapidly convalescing.

TAXPAYERS WILL PAY $30,000 FOR PRIMARY TO DECIDE NOTHING

Cincinnati, O., June 16.—Cincinnati taxpayers will put up $30,000 to $35,000 next August for the expenses of a primary election, the results of which will disclose nothing more than they know today.

This is because there will not be a contest for either a Democratic or Republican nomination.

With no contests for nominations in either party, the vote cast at the primary is expected to be small, so it is estimated that the tax payers will pay not less than $1 a ballot for the privilege of having the voters place their stamp of approval on what the party organizations have just done for them.

S. D. FESS PREDICTS RE-ELECTION OF HARDING IN 1924

Prediction that President Harding will be re-elected by as large a majority in 1924 as he received in 1920, providing facts relative to the achievements of the administration are placed before the public, was made by U. S. Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs, in an address at the annual Montgomery County Republican picnic at Forest Park Dayton, Friday.

Dr. Fess was the last of a number of speakers on the program and his address received the accomplishments of the Republican administration. He told of the wonders in finance accomplished by President Harding and ended with a fervent plea for support of his policy and desire for the entrance of this country into the World Court plan. Other speakers included Daniel C. Brower, city and county Republican chairman; Congressman Roy C. Fitzgerald, Judge William Powell, and Mrs. A. S. Bickham, congressman Fitzgerald who acted as toastmaster, read telegrams of regret from Secretary of State Thad Brown, Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, from George H. Clark, chairman of the Ohio Republican Executive Committee and from John Leyaldin for Leon C. Herrick, state director of highways.

"The greatest thing a nation must have during any contest is the information on which the judgment must be made," said Senator Fess. "The Republican party has never lost when it has gone before the people with the issue it believes in. In 1896 it won on the platform of sound money, when the Democrats were advocating the 16 to 1 ratio and unlimited coinage of silver."

In 1900 the problems of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines faced the nation. The Democrats said we must have no imperialism. The Republicans offered to take these nations as a business basis, educating their peoples and again were given the confidence of the voters.

"The same question, in a much more dramatic and exciting fashion was presented in 1920 when the Democrats urged the league to end all wars. They said without participation of this nation in the league the war would not end."

"When a Republican congress passed a resolution to end the war the Democratic president vetoed it. When we denounced the league, we carried the question to the voters and elected Warren G. Harding by the most overwhelming majority ever accorded a president of the United States. All we need is to see that the correct information is carried to the voters. If his accomplishments are carried to the voters he will be re-elected by the same majority he was accorded in 1920."

Candidacy of McAdoo To Be Announced

William G. McAdoo

William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, soon will make formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President, according to his friends in Kansas City, who met and conferred with him there while he was en route to Los Angeles. The formal announcement, it is said, will be made in order that his strength may not be dissipated by the whipping of his followers into line for other candidates.

EXCITEMENT HIGH FOR SUNDAY GAME

Fans are showing more than ordinary interest in the battle at Dickerson Park Sunday where the Xenia Red Sox and the C. M. I. A. Club of Dayton clash in a game scheduled to be one of the tightest exhibitions of the season.

Both teams are on edge for the conflict and each has dropped but a single game so that when they get together Sunday the rival nines will make a strong bid to continue their winning ways. Some team's crack base-balling record is going to be shattered at the local diamond Sunday and supporters of the Xenia combination are hoping that it will be the Gem City nine that will be sent back with another blemish on its baseball escutcheon.

Lewis and Jones will be available for hurling duties for the Red Sox, according to announcement of the management. Lewis has been getting away in fine shape this season, and appears to have all his old time skill in making the horseshoe behave. Jones may be rushed into the breach at any moment which gives the Red Sox plenty of pitching.

Management of the Red Sox anticipates the largest crowd of the season for this game, because of the interest that has so far shown itself. With right weather it is expected the Park will be crowded for the clash. The Red Sox will lineup as follows: Shoecraft, 1b; Wilett, 2b; Peterson, ss; Spragg, 3b; Sterling, c; Anderson, rf; Porter, cf; Cunningham lf.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock in charge of competent officials.

FANS TO WATCH TUCKER SUNDAY

The Bayliffs will tackle a sturdy diamond foe at Washington Park Sunday afternoon when they engage the Hamilton Movers of Cincinnati.

Roy Bayliff and his athletes are out to check the onrush of the nine who has been carving history around Hamilton County. Bayliff has two star pitchers set for the Movers. He will start Curt Free and Willie McDonnell will also be on hand and ready to go into the game in case that Curt does not fare well. The fans have been pretty sweet on Tucker who is playing first base for the Bayliffs and they are wondering how he is going to fare against the offerings sent up by Burg, the star moundman of the Movers. Tucker is batting around the .500 mark at present and he has walloped the slants of all opposing pitchers. If the locals can get to Burg, they believe they will be able to bat themselves to a victory. In any case the game is liable to develop into a pitcher's battle as both Burg and Free are star twirlers.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock with Norris in charge.

HAGAN HAS NO ALIBI

Troon, Scotland, June 16.—"I'll be back again," declared Walter Hagen the 1922 British open champion, as he sailed for the United States on the Berongaria today after a vain but glorious attempt to again win the open. With him sailed Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel and Charley Heffner.

Hagen missed out winning by the narrow margin of one stroke.

"I can't blame the weather," Hagen said, "but it was a factor against us. We got frightfully cold waiting to drive off. The barring of the hunched clubs did not make any difference but I dislike the unsportsmanlike manner of issuing the barring order at the eleventh hour. But I'll be back again."

Arthur Havers, the son of a steward of an English club, and one of the most prominent of the younger set of professionals to displace the old guard of British golfers is the real hero of England today. He played a steady, methodical game, succeeding where such English lights as George Duncan, James Braid, Abe Mitchell and Roger Wethered failed.

RESERVES READY FOR MOOSE

The Xenia Reserves are all set for Sunday's big game with the St. Paris Moose to be staged at the old Reserve Park, Cincinnati Avenue.

The team has finished practice preparations for what the management believes will be one of the toughest assignments of the season, that of defeating a combination that has been taking all comers into camp this season. The Moose outfit was defeated by the Bayliffs here earlier in the season but the team has been strengthened since then and the Reserves management is taking no chances with the visitors.

Wical of Paintersville, former Kitty League pitcher, will be on the mound for the Reserves with Green behind bat. Owens will be at first base, Leahy at second, with Shadley at third, Shaw, Ary, Holland, Milburn and Chance will perform in the gardens.

The Reserves have erected a new grandstand at the Cincinnati Avenue Park to take care of 1,000 people and there is plenty of parking space for machines. The game started at 2:30 o'clock. Admission for men will be 25 cents while women will be admitted free.

TWENTY FIREMEN HURT IN MILLION DOLLAR OIL BLAZE

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 16.—Twenty firemen were seriously injured, some probably fatally, in collapse of 100,000 gallon oil tank at the Atlantic Refining Company. Fire has been raging at the plant since yesterday afternoon and damage may reach over $1,500,000.

When the huge oil tank buckled a red hot steel roof dropped into liquid oil and fire gushed in every direction, catching a crew of firemen. Several spectators a hundred yards from the fire lines were burned.

Rescue work was hampered by the blaze and smoke but several firemen had been removed and taken to hospitals.

Two 50,000 gallon gasoline tanks exploded, showering burning oil for nearly a block. Residents in the neighborhood fled. Several smaller fires started.

The entire fire department of Pittsburgh is battling with the conflagration which threatens to sweep a wide area.

At 2 o'clock the fire was raging over an area of nine blocks and firemen unable to cope with the burning oil were trying to save the neighboring section of the city.

Five firemen have already been taken from the ruins in serious condition. They are in hospitals. The fate of 15 others was in doubt.

Officials of the Atlantic Refining Company declared the loss had already reached $1,500,000 and unless the flames are checked a higher loss is probable.

NEW LEGISLATION DEFEATS PURPOSE OF SECHO LAW

New legislation which becomes effective early in August defeats the purpose of an order from the State Department of Education issued ten months ago, according to word received by County Supt. of Schools H. C. Aultman.

The original idea required certain additional training for teachers after July 1 seeking a renewal of a certificate or for the conversion of a five or eight year certificate into a life certificate. Boards of examiners were ordered to file rules providing additional training.

Legislation which becomes effective in August, however, provided that the Director of Education may prescribe additional training for the removal or conversion of any kind of certificate but that such prescription of additional training shall not apply to teachers with 12 years or more of experience. The clause eliminates the possibility of requiring additional training for teachers with more than 12 years experience.

The department may, however, establish additional training for all with less than 12 years experience and local boards of examiners, may require additional training for renewals of any or all certificates. The requirement for this year is five semester hours of added training. For renewals in 1924 the requirement formerly proposed was nine semester hours of added training not more than half of which may be extension class credit.

Greene County board will follow the requirements as prescribed by the State director, according to Supt. Aultman.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS OF STATE

Columbus, June 16.—According to the annual report of the state department of education, there were 1,358,994 children in Ohio schools during the past year. These youngsters were taught by 36,399 teachers, of whom 7,814 are high school instructors. There were 117,649 8-year-olds among the pupils. This is the high point for any age. The lowest age representation is from 17 to 18. There were but 81,161 of this class. Boys lead the girls on the rolls by 1,000. The general enrollment shows a steady increase. The high school percentage alone is more than 175,000, or 16.5 per cent of the state's total population.

Thirty per cent of the Ohio pupils are related, that is, they are behind the grade in which educators believe they belong, and only 4.4 per cent are ahead of their class. Almost 110,000 pupils failed last year. The average school year is 178 days.

FINAL SETTLEMENT WITH GOVERNMENT MADE BY RAILROAD

Washington, June 15.—An agreement to pay into the treasury $90,000,000 has been made by the Pennsylvania railroad system as the result of final settlement between the railroad and the government of all accounts arising out of the wartime federal control.

The Pennsylvania's payment will reimburse the government for the cost of a large number of additions and betterments made to its line during the period of government control, which overbalanced all of road's claims against the treasury—damages, under-maintenance and other items.

With the Pennsylvania clarification the way, the railroad advising has now settled the accompanying from the federal control the country's own 86 per cent try's rail mileage.

S. D. FESS PREDICTS RE-ELECTION OF HARDING IN 1924

Prediction that President Harding will be re-elected by a large majority in 1924 as he received in 1920, providing facts relative to the achievements of the administration are placed before the public, was made by U. S. Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs, in an address at the annual Montgomery County Republican picnic at Forest Park, Dayton, Friday.

Dr. Fess was the last of a number of speakers on the program and his address received the accomplishments of the Republican administration. He told of the wonders in finance accomplished with a fervent plea for support of his policy and desire for the entrance of this country into the World Court plan. Other speakers included Daniel C. Brown, city and county Republican chairman; Congressman Roy G. Fitzgerald; Judge William Powell, and Mrs. A. S. Blochman. Congressman Fitzgerald who acted as toastmaster, read telegrams of regret from Secretary of State Thad Brown; Attorney General C. C. Crabbe; from George H. Clark, chairman of the Ohio Republican Executive Committee and from John Leysald for Leon C. Herrick, state director of highways.

"The greatest thing a nation must have during any contest is the information on which the judgment must be made," said Senator Fess. "The Republican party has never lost when it has gone before the people with the issue it believes in. In 1896 it won on the platform of sound money, when the Democrats were advocating the 16 to 1 ratio and unlimited coinage of silver."

"In 1900 the problems of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines faced the nation. The Democrats said we must have no imperialism. The Republicans offered to place these nations on a business basis, educating their peoples and again were given the confidence of the voters."

"The same question, in a much more dramatic and exciting fashion was presented in 1920 when the Democrats urged the league to end all wars. They said without participation of this nation in the league the war would not end."

"When a Republican congress passed a resolution to end the war, the Democratic president vetoed it. When we denounced the league, we carried the question to the voters and elected Warren G. Harding by the most overwhelming majority ever accorded a president of the United States. All we need is to see that the correct information is carried to the voters. If his accomplishments are carried to the voters he will be re-elected by the same majority he was accorded in 1920."

Candidacy of McAdoo To Be Announced

William G. McAdoo

William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, soon will make formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President, according to his friends in Kansas City, who met and conferred with him there while he was en route to Los Angeles. The formal announcement, it is said, will be made in order that his strength may not be dissipated by the whipping of his followers into line for other candidates.

to check the onrush of the nine who have been carving history around Hamilton County. Bayliff has two star pitchers set for the Movers. He will start Curt Free and Willie McDonnell will also be on hand and ready to go into the game in case that Curt does not fare well. The fans have been pretty sweet on Tucker who is playing first base for the Bayliffs and they are wondering how he is going to fare against the offerings sent up by Burg, the star moundsman of the Movers. Tucker is batting around the .500 mark at present and he has walloped the slants of all opposing pitchers. If the locals can get to Burg, they believe they will be able to bat themselves to a victory. In any case the game is liable to develop into a pitcher's battle as both Burg and Free are star twirlers.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock with Norris in charge.

HAGAN HAS NO ALIBI
Troon, Scotland, June 16.—"I'll be back again," declared Walter Hagen, the 1922 British open champion, as he sailed for the United States on the Berengaria today after a vain but glorious attempt to again win the open. With him sailed Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel and Charley Heffner.

Hagen missed out winning by the narrow margin of one stroke. "I can't blame the weather," Hagen said, "but it was a factor against us. We got frightfully cold waiting to drive off. The barring of the hunched clubs did not make any difference but I dislike the unsportsmanlike manner of issuing the barring order at the eleventh hour. But I'll be back again."

Arthur Havers, the son of a steward of an English club and one of the most prominent of the younger set of professionals to displace the old guard of British golfers is the real hero of England today. He played a steady, methodical game, succeeding where such English lights as George Duncan, James Braid, Abe Mitchell and Roger Wethered failed.

RESERVES READY FOR MOOSE
The Xenia Reserves are all set for Sunday's big game with the St. Paris Moose to be staged at the old Reserve Park, Cincinnati Avenue.

The team has finished practice preparations for what the management believes will be one of the toughest assignments of the season, that of defeating a combination that has been taking all comers into camp this season. The Moose outfit was defeated by the Bayliffs here earlier in the season but the team has been strengthened since then and the Reserves management is taking no chances with the visitors.

Wical of Paintersville, former Kitty League pitcher, will be on the mound for the Reserves with Green behind bat. Owens will be at first base, Leahy at second, with Shadley at the short field and DeAtley at third. Shaw, Ary, Holland, Milburn and Chance will perform in the gardens.

The Reserves have erected a new grandstand at the Cincinnati Avenue Park to take care of 1,000 people and there is plenty of parking space for machines. The game started at 2:30 o'clock. Admission for men will be 25 cents while women will be admitted free.

TROOP 1 WINS BALL GAME
Staging a sensational ninth inning rally, Troop 1, Boy Scouts, defeated troop 2, by a 10 to 9 score, Friday afternoon.

Troop 1 went into the final frame with the score standing 9 to 6 against them. Reutinger, first up, singled and stole second. The hit and run was worked, Buell being safe on his bunt while Reutinger took third. Smith then hit sharply into left field scoring Reutinger and Euell, and Zell smacked the agate for two bases, scoring Smith. Adair hit scored Zell with the winning run.

Believes "Ads" Better Than Ambassadors

Senator Edge

Advertising, in lieu of ambassadors, would make America and its ideals abroad, according to United States Senator Walter Evans Edge, Republican of New Jersey. He told that to members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in annual session at Atlantic City, New Jersey. "Lord knows," he added, "we need a better understanding with our friends overseas."

TWENTY FIREMEN HURT IN MILLION DOLLAR OIL BLAZE

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 16.—Twenty firemen were seriously injured, some probably fatally, in collapse of 100,000 gallon oil tank at the Atlantic Refining Company. Fire has been raging at the plant since yesterday afternoon and damage may reach over $1,500,000.

When the huge oil tank buckled a red hot steel roof dropped into liquid oil and fire gushed in every direction, catching a crew of firemen. Several spectators a hundred yards from the fire lines were burned.

Rescue work was hampered by the blaze and smoke but several firemen had been removed and taken to hospitals.

Two 50,000 gallon gasoline tanks exploded, showering burning oil for nearly a block. Residents in the neighborhood fled. Several smaller fires started.

The entire fire department of Pittsburgh is battling with the conflagration which threatens to sweep a wide area.

At 2 o'clock the fire was raging over an area of nine blocks and firemen unable to cope with the burning oil were trying to save the neighboring section of the city.

Five firemen have already been taken from the ruins in serious condition. They are in hospitals. The fate of 15 others was in doubt.

Officials of the Atlantic Refining Company declared the loss had already reached $1,500,000 and unless the flames are checked a higher loss is probable.

NEW LEGISLATION DEFEATS PURPOSE OF SECHO LAW

New legislation which becomes effective early in August defeats the purpose of an order from the State Department of Education issued ten months ago, according to word received by County Supt. of Schools H. C. Aultman.

The original idea required certain additional training for teachers after July 1 seeking a renewal of a certificate or for the conversion of a five or eight year certificate into a life certificate. Boards of examiners were ordered to file rules providing additional training.

Legislation which becomes effective in August, however, provided that the Director of Education may prescribe additional training for the removal or conversion of any kind of certificate but that such prescription of additional training shall not apply to teachers with 12 years or more of experience. The clause eliminates the possibility of requiring additional training for teachers with more than 12 years experience.

The department may, however, establish additional training for all with less than 12 years experience and local boards of examiners, may require additional training for renewals of any or all certificates. The requirement for this year is five semester hours of added training. For renewals in 1924 the requirement formerly proposed was nine semester hours of added training not more than half of which may be extension class credit.

Greene County board will follow the requirements as prescribed by the State Director, according to Supt. Aultman.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS OF STATE

Columbus, June 16.—According to the annual report of the state department of education, there were 1,358,094 children in Ohio schools during the past year. These youngsters were taught by 36,399 teachers, of whom 7,814 are high school instructors. There were 117,649 8-year-olds among the pupils. This is the high point for any age. The lowest age representation is from 17 to 18. There were but 81,161 of this class. Boys lead the girls on the rolls by 1,000. The general enrollment shows a steady increase. The high school percentage alone is more than 175,000, or 16.5 per cent of the state's total population.

Thirty per cent of the Ohio pupils are related, that is, they are behind the grade in which educators believe they belong, and only 4.4 per cent are ahead of their class. Almost 110,000 pupils failed last year. The average school year is 178 days.

This was the only explanation given police today by Mrs. Lillie Van Wicklem, 44, charged with kidnapping three-year-old Russel Harmon from his home here. While the child was playing in the yard, a fourteen-year-old girl appeared on the scene, gathered him in her arms and disappeared.

WOMAN EXPLAINS KIDNAPING CASE

Canton, O., June 16.—"I love children but I do not have a mania for them."

This was the only explanation given police today by Mrs. Lillie Van Wicklem, 44, charged with kidnapping three-year-old Russel Harmon from his home here. While the child was playing in the yard, a fourteen-year-old girl appeared on the scene, gathered him in her arms and disappeared.

Mrs. Van Wicklem arrested later, claims that the mother of the child gave him to her when he was ten days old and she kept him until he was eighteen months old and then was compelled to give him back. A number of years ago Mrs. Van Wicklem says she adopted a boy from a Cleveland maternity hospital and she also has an adopted daughter, 12, whom she says was left on her doorstep in Columbus, when a tiny infant.

PRODUCER TO WED 'FOLLIES' DANCER

Miss Martha Lorber, premier danseuse of the Ziegfeld "Follies," will be Mrs. Carle Carleton No. 2, Broadway (New York) has heard. Carleton, prominent theatrical producer, who recently returned from abroad, has declined to discuss the rumor, but persons who should know have stated that the engagement will soon be announced. He was formerly the husband of Miss Edith Day, musical comedy star, whose marriage to Pat Somerset, the English actor and co-star with her, resulted from a complicated entanglement of heart-strings. Carleton "discovered" Miss Day, made her a star and later divorced her.

Graham paper store, removed four layers of wall paper one of which bore the date of 1872. The first coating of paper had been put on by George Huston, of Alpha, Mr. Shank, who has lived in the house all of his life, recalls of seeing that paper put on when he was a small boy.

Three new coats of paper were put on the walls since the first, fifty-one years and two days passing since the first papering. The Shank home was built in 1868.

FINAL SETTLEMENT WITH GOVERNMENT MADE BY RAILROAD

Washington, June 16.—An agreement to pay into the treasury $90,000,000 has been made by the Pennsylvania railroad system as the result of final settlement between the railroad and the government of all accounts arising out of the wartime federal control.

The Pennsylvania's payment will reimburse the government for the cost of a large number of additions and betterments made to its lines during the period of government control, which overbalanced all of the road's claims against the treasury for damages, under-maintenance and other items.

With the Pennsylvania claim out of the way, the railroad administration has now settled the accounts arising from the federal control of companies which own 86 per cent of the country's rail mileage.

MARSHAL KUN IS CHINA'S DICTATOR

Peking, June 16.—Between the great wall on the north and the Yangtze Kiang river on the south, Marshal Tsao Kun, China's latest military dictator, reigns supreme. He is the leader of the Chih Li party. Chinese public opinion is rapidly rallying behind the new leader and the only opposition manifested against him, following the successful coup through which President Li Yuan Hung was overthrown, is within the treaty ports where opposition is made safe by the protection of the foreign troops. The cabinet under the provisional constitution is slowly taking up governmental business. Foreign press in China is urging a strong attitude on the part of the foreign powers but the diplomatic body has declined to take any action, adopting an apparent attitude of "watchful waiting" for further developments.

THE "LEAGUE" NO BETTER NOW THAN IN 1920.

The latest variation on the league of nations theme is that the presidential election in 1920 has been erroneously construed as registration of sentiment against America's entry and that, in reality, the nation desires such participation. This is an unwarranted inference that reflects on the electorate. The league of nations was squarely in issue in that election. The millions that voted for Harding voted against league participation. It is even more preposterous to urge such baseless contention now than it would have been immediately following the election. For at that time the arguments against the league were directed to defects and shortcomings that the then future was relied on to develop. Now those defects and shortcomings have become actual and manifest. Therefore it is fair assumption that the American electorate would be even more overwhelmingly against the covenant, if called on for a verdict on rehearing, than it was in 1920.

IN THE KANSAS CASE.

A hard but hardly mortal blow has fallen on the Kansas Industrial Relations Act by the decision of the United States Supreme Court that the State of Kansas was without power to do so when it fixed wages in the plant of a Kansas packing company. The Court holds this action of the State Industrial Court, upheld by the Kansas Supreme Court, conflicted with the Fourteenth Amendment, thereby depriving, without due process of law, the packing company of its property and its liberty of contract.

Some of the sharpest teeth of that celebrated, sometimes damned, sometimes praised and widely discussed Western statute have been pulled, but all of them have not been drawn. Its anti-picketing and arbitration clauses were not in controversy in this case and are not directly affected by the decision.

The Supreme Court has not utterly destroyed the Kansas Act or the Kansas Idea of dealing with industrial wars. What it has done in its decision is to curb the wage-fixing power of Kansas and of all the States. That opinion calls a sharp halt on the efforts of legislators, State and national, who for a generation have been steadily encroaching upon the rights of the individual in attempts to regulate business and industry in "the public interest."

The Nation had come to a place where a line had to be drawn as nearly as possible between what is undoubtedly the "public interest" and what is not. Somewhat vaguely the Supreme Court has proceeded to draw that line in the Kansas case. While the "public interest" has long been recognized, Chief Justice Taft points out in the opinion:

It has never been supposed, since the adoption of the Constitution, that the business of the butcher, the tailor, the wood-chopper, the mining operator or the miner was clothed with such public interest that the price of his product or his wages could be fixed by State regulations.

Kansas has supposed otherwise. In her effort to end strikes, led by Governor Allen, Kansas had extended the "public interest" to include all manufactures and preparations having to do with human food, with fuel and with the transportation of these. This extension was bound to cut across and through the freedom of contract and the liberty of the individual. By unanimous decision, the Court denied Kansas the right to do these things and held that common callings not clothed with the public interest could not be so clothed by a mere legislative enactment.

LAST OF FOREIGNERS FREED BY CHINESE TRAIN BANDITS.

Eight bearded, shabby men, four of them Americans, the last of the twenty-seven foreign prisoners captured by Chinese bandits from the Shanghai-Peking express near Suchow May 6, arrived at the Tung Hsing mines, near Tsaochwang, last Tuesday.

They came down the mountainside from their prison in the Temple of the Clouds on Patozuku Mountain, in sedan chairs, on donkeys and some walking, with an escort of outlaws.

At the mine compound they saw the last of their brigand hosts and were joyfully greeted by relatives and friends, who had gathered there to welcome them. Baths, clothing and food were awaiting them and on a railroad siding stood a train ready to take them to Tsaochwang.

It is expected that all or the majority of the eight will proceed to Shanghai.

The closing scene of the six and one-half weeks of negotiations for the prisoners' release was staged with all the Chinese love of formality. The stage was the village of Tsihiho, fifteen miles from Tsaochwang and two miles down the mountainside from the Temple of the Clouds.

In the center of the group of bandit chieftains and Chinese officials stood Roy Anderson, American, long familiar with Chinese customs and the chosen intermediary of the outlaws and the Peking Government.

All of the foreign captives held by the Patozuku bandits have been released. The bandits demanded that their terms be guaranteed Roy Anderson, who was unable to comply until assurances were received from Tsao Kun, the highest military official in North China and a candidate for President.

The bandits' victory is declared complete, as they have won all they demanded, including a foreign counter-signature of the agreement, thus, fully humiliating the Chinese Government.

Important foreign circles now fear that the bandits' success will encourage other outlaws to seize foreigners with a view of forcing the Chinese Government to accept humiliating terms.

NOT SO MUCH OF A JOKE AS IT MIGHT BE

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The school enumeration of Xenia Township which is now in the hands of the township clerk, shows that there are 423 children of school age in the township.

The D. and X traction line has been having a run of bad luck with its cars and has got down to about the last one in the number that is capable of being operated. Accidents and other mishaps have put the company in sore straits.

Necessity is laid upon the Board of Managers of the Theological Seminary of Xenia, to provide an additional building to meet the needs of the work. A large lecture room is needed and it is proposed to erect a building on the northwest corner of the lot, two stories high, furnishing the needed accommodation at a cost of about $10,000.

Mr. O. E. Bradute has gone on a business trip to Chicago.

HINTS FOR COUNTRY WOMEN.

There is a general and quite un-idea that everyone who lives in the country must automatically be healthy and beautiful—an idea probably resulting from the popularity of pastoral poetry during the last generation.

It's true there's less soot—though many an isolated farm is near enough to a railway track to get its share of soot and with speeding autos, all get more than their share of dust! It's true the air is better, but the sun more fierce, or the winter more keen. And the lack of abundant flowing hot water discourages anyone from too many beauty treatments and baths. Besides drug stores are apt to be far off, and limited in stock, so few good beauty preparations can be bought.

But try these suggestions. The farmer's wife has plenty of oatmeal about—tie up one tablespoonful in a muslin bag, make a dozen or more bags, they'll keep. Drop one into the bottom of the pail of water in each bedroom, it will soften hard water, and it will bleach the skin and give it a soft, smooth surface. This treatment takes up no extra time.

Starch paste, rosemary toilet water, parsley bleach, cucumber milk—these beauty lotions come from your garden, make them up at odd times. An egg shampoo is always possible on a farm—even when it's too expensive to be indulged in by the city girl. Coarse salt kept for stock or for the ice-cream freezer will give you a salt bath with no trouble at all; toilet vinegars can be made from sweet herbs and flowers and ordinary clean vinegar.

You will have to purchase white mineral oil—unless you already have it as a laxative in the medicine cupboard—and a few ounces each of white wax and spermaceti. With these you can make all the creams, milks and lotions you could possibly need.

M. J. M.—You are probably only in need of a good building tonic such as those in which there is cod liver oil. As you gain in weight your troubles will likely disappear.

Eleanor—After using the astringent, massage cream into the skin to soothe it. As your skin is so dry always work a little cream into it after you have used water on it. Wipe off the surplus and dust the skin with a little powder, or omit this if you wish.

H. S. H.—If you gradually acquire a coat of tan you will not have those spells of excessive burning. No lotion that you put on before the exposure will prevent sunburn.

Anxious Girl—Cocoa butter comes in cake form and will be found in a drug store.

K. N. B. S. G. F.—At 14 years, 95 pounds could be considered normal weight if the general health is good. Any of the preparations in which there are honey and almonds will keep the hands soft and relieve their tendency to redness.

Keeps Your Skin Fresh And Clear

The Soap cleanses and purifies the pores, the Ointment soothes and heals any irritation, redness or roughness.

On retiring smear the affected surface with the Ointment on end of finger. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Do not fail to include the exquisitely scented Cuticura Talcum in your toilet preparations.

INTERESTED—Reports show that approximately 27,000 long distance calls are handled every day in the long distance telephone exchange in New York.

MOTHER—"At the 'Mermaid,' by Browning, contains the lines you are interested in:

Have you found your life distasteful?
My life did, and does, smack sweet.
Was your youth of pleasure wasteful?
Mine I saved and hold complete.
Did your joys with age diminish?
When mine fail me I'll complain.
Must in death your daylight finish?
My sun sets to rise again.

BIRDLOVER—It is true that thousands of birds, flying at night when it is cloudy, become confused and are killed when they dash themselves into monuments, lighthouses or other structures.

SMOKER—You are wrong. Rice paper is not made from the rice plant, but from the pith of a tree growing in Formosa.

POET—"Intimations of Immortality" by Wordsworth embrace the lines you ask about:

Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting;
The soul that rises with us, our life's star,
Hath had elsewhere its setting,
And cometh from afar.
Not in entire forgetfulness,
And not at utter nakedness,
But trailing clouds of glory, do we come
From God, who is our home!
Heaven lies about us in our infancy.

MRS. HINCKLEY NERVOUS WRECK

Tells Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting. I could not do my work except a little at a time, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw your little book on to my porch, and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles, and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all of my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—Mrs. O. J. HINCKLEY, 316 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

Today's Talk

RESTFULNESS
I am of the opinion that if all the great and notable men who have achieved great fame and wealth, were interviewed in nearly every case they would say that if they had life to live over again, they would spend less time making money and more time making friends.

I have noticed that most very rich and powerful men are restless, fidgety, and bear great clouds of worry across their faces.

I have noted another thing—their quick response to the smallest kindnesses and their satisfaction in the presence of one whose spirit has never passed through the sieve of gold.

What a restful influence some people have on us!

How we grow—like the flowers of spring after a fresh shower—when we are with those whose serenity of heart and spirit causes within us no ruffle, no regret, no intermixture of feeling—just restfulness—silent happiness.

You are the one, after all, who matters most in this world—you who make up the great entirety of human movement.

Relax that restfulness of yours—give to others that restfulness of mind, heart and soul that you may most desire for yourself.

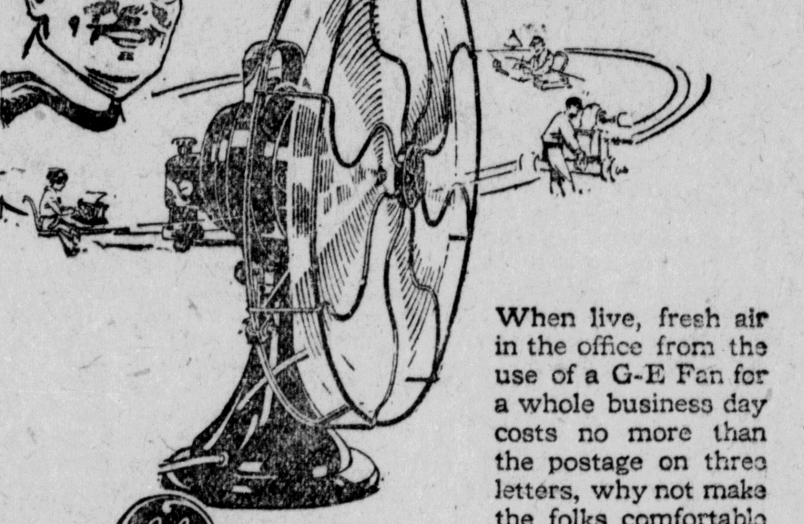

And what restfulness there is in the happy, silent exchange of one mind and heart with another—what understanding, what restfulness!

COMMENCEMENT AT WILBERFORCE WILL START ON SUNDAY

The sixtieth anniversary and commencement exercises of Wilberforce University will open Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when the Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered to the graduating class by Bishop W. D. Johnson, D. D. of Plains, Georgia, in the Auditorium of Galloway Hall.

The instructors, graduates and distinguished men who will appear on the program during the week, will meet at Carnegie Library, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The line of march headed by Pres. J. A. Gregg and in charge of Major John A. Green, military aids, will proceed to the place of meeting.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, the address will be given to the religious societies by Chaplain O. J. Scott, of the U. S. Army.

Rev. S. B. Jones of Alton, Ill., is to preach the annual sermon at 7:30 o'clock to the graduating class of Payne Theological Seminary. Dean George F. Woodson, Rev. P. S. Hill, and Dr. Summers, instructors of the Seminary will be in charge of the services.

President Gregg anticipates the largest gathering for the week in the history of the school, owing to the several important connectional meetings of the A. M. E. Church and the celebrating of the sixtieth anniversary of the oldest institution of learning among the colored people. Distinguished men from all parts of the country are expected to attend.

During the exercises of the anniversary, Bishop J. M. Connor of Little Rock, Ark., will preside, assisted by Bishops W. H. Heard and L. J. Coppin of Philadelphia. The principal speakers will be Bishop B. F. Lee, who served as the second president of the school and the history of the school is to be given by Bishop J. H. Jones, who was its fourth president. Addresses will be made by Dr. R. C. Ransom of New York, Editor of the A. M. E. Review and Rev. H. Y. Tookes.

Short addresses will be made by representatives from the fifteen Episcopal Districts.

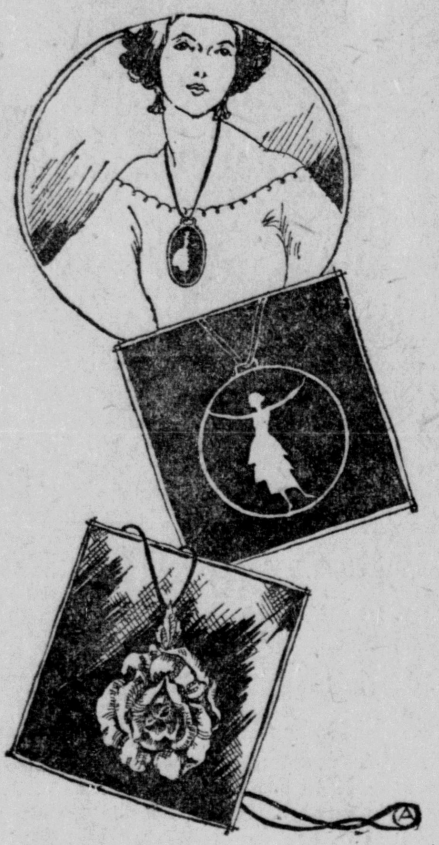

The commencement exercises will close Thursday by an address delivered to the graduates by Hon. L. C. Dyer, congressman from St. Louis, Mo., the author of the famous Dyer Anti-Lynching bill which brought about a long drawn debate in Congress last fall, and which was bitterly opposed by the majority of representatives from the southern states.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

Cincinnati, June 16.—Two fatal automobile accidents happened in Hamilton county within an hour of each other, making the total motor car fatalities 60 since the first of the year. Margaret Boyle, 45, social worker, was instantly killed when crossing a street, and Patrick Keefe, a painter, was killed when his machine was struck by a train at Norwood.

Styles BY LENORE

Carved ivory is much used in novelty costume jewelry and dress accessories. Buckles and dress clasps are features in some of the more expensive dresses, and there are flat pendants of exquisitely carved ivory.

ed silhouettes of human figures, two of which are sketched above, together with a rose pendant which is tinged with a faint flush of pink. These trifles make much appreciated gifts.

WORTH KNOWING

Old-fashioned white cotton tape is used as trimming on colored cotton dresses—for binding edges, or for embroidery combined with colored thread.

Silk parasols in pastel colors are made to match summer frocks. For travel it should be remembered that knitted suits shed dust amazingly well, and while they wrinkle very little, they may be restored to shape by pressing, and they clean as successfully as other materials.

Some of the prettiest evening frocks have a low, oval neckline. To complete the summer frock of cotton or of silk, there are hats made of the same material. A pastel blue Georgette crepe frock on straight lines with pleated panels is accompanied by a wide-brimmed hat having a long, pleated scarf wound around the crown and hanging over the right shoulder.

A new and flattering shade of green is to be noted in little girls' dresses.

Steak-Kidney Pie—Have your butcher cut two pounds of round steak into small oblong strips. Also have him dice one lamb's kidney. Parboil the diced kidney (that is, boil it in salted water for 15 minutes drain and cool), then roll both the kidney pieces and the steak strips in flour and dust with salt pepper. Put a layer of the steak in a deep baking dish, sprinkle finely minced raw onion (in all, you will need two large onions), then put in a layer of the kidney pieces; alternate these two layers till both kinds of meat are used up—sprinkle with the onion between each layer. Pour two cups of boiling water over all (to moisten well) and cover with a simple biscuit crust. Bake for two hours in a moderate oven. Serve very hot. (This is an excellent dish to serve occasionally on Sunday. So often the family tired of the customary leg of lamb, roast of beef or chicken in the Sunday dinner, and this pie provides a welcome change.)

Sauce for a Spanish Omelet—Make an ordinary omelet, and put the following sauce upon it before folding it over: Chop one large peeled onion finely and saute it in two tablespoons of butter for several minutes; now add one-fourth teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper, a little Mexican Chili powder, if you have it (just enough to color—but if you haven't it, you may substitute the red paprika, or may even use finely chopped red pepper), and then add one tablespoon of flour and blend smoothly. Also add one green pepper which you have previously cut in two to remove seeds, then boiled for ten minutes in water to cover, drained, and chopped finely. Turn one-half can of tomatoes into this mixture (or use the same quantity of ripe, stewed tomatoes) and let simmer for ten minutes before turning over the omelet. A Spanish omelet makes an excellent luncheon or supper dish. Stewed celery may also be added to this sauce.

Scrambled Tomatoes—Remove skins from six large ripe tomatoes and slice. Add a little butter, salt and pepper and cook in their own juice (with a very little water added) till tender. Then stir two beaten eggs into the hot tomatoes, cook way, and serve.

NEGRO MUSIC WILL FEATURE MEETING

A community sing to be held at the Water Tower Park, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, is being announced by the executive committee of the East End Community Recreation Association.

Lovers of Negro music are promised a treat at the sing and considerable emphasis will be placed on some of the finer Negro spirituals, which are the gifts of the colored people to America and recognized as the only native, American music.

J. M. Pollard of the National Community Service staff, who will be here to assist Frank H. Young for about a week, declared he had never seen a better institute anywhere than that held at East High School Friday night. More than 150 people took part as students or spectators, and the candidates were trained in playground leadership by Mr. Pollard.

Mr. Pollard will speak in some of the churches of the city Sunday and a general invitation to the community sing Sunday afternoon is being extended. Fifteen minutes at the meeting will be given over to the art of story telling.

THE MISFIT

A BURGLAR AND A BURGLARY Chapter XXIII

As Natalie entered her room she had that eerie feeling that accompanies the knowledge that someone is in the room. It was dusk, and, rather ashamed of her selfishness, she switched on the light. She glanced around, saw nothing, yet the feeling remained. She moved to her dressing table, laid off her hat and smoothed her hair. Her breath came with a quick intake, smothered quickly.

In the glass she had seen a foot under the big divan at the side of the room. Her heart beat furiously, she wanted to scream but dared not. The man might shoot. With seeming nonchalance she patted her hair, then walked to the closet and laid out a dress. He must not imagine she had seen him. Her jewelry was in the drawer, she evidently had come in before he had time to search, for nothing was disturbed. Dare she touch the bell? She decided not—she had to pass the divan to reach it. And the thought of the man underneath it frightened her. A careless glance in the mirror showed he had changed his position and she had caught the gleam of something—a revolver. She heard Horace's voice, almost held her breath, he would be up in a moment, then a door opened, it was his mother stopping him as usual. All Natalie's self-control vanished. With a piercing scream she rushed to the door, calling "Horace! Horace!"

An oath, a figure flying past her, and she knew no more.

Natalie opened her eyes lying on the divan. Horace was bending over her, his mother standing stern and silent in the doorway.

"What was it, dear?" Horace asked. "Oh, a man, a burglar—" she gasped shuddering.

"A burglar!" Horace said. "Why, Natalie, you—"

"He was here, Horace, right under the divan. When you didn't come in I screamed. Oh, why did you stop?"

"Nonsense!" Natalie is hysterical, Horace, Mrs. Crandall said in her cold voice. "Call her maid. You will have to hurry to be dressed for dinner in time," she added as she turned away.

"Were you asleep, Natalie, dreaming?" Horace asked as he rang, although it was unnecessary, as the maid already stood in the door.

"No, he was here, Horace, under the couch. I saw him in the mirror. When I screamed he ran out."

"But Natalie, where did he go? I was in the hall at once. There, dear, try and compose yourself. Your imagination has been playing tricks with you." Crandall gave some directions to the maid, then went to his room to dress.

Partly over her fright, indignation helped Natalie to recover herself. Horace would have believed her, comforted her, had it not been for his mother saying that she was hysterical. Did nothing ever shake her calm, ever make her anything but free? Natalie wished the burglar had been in her room, perhaps she wouldn't be quite so cool about it.

Horace dressed, reassured her. She must lie quiet, have her dinner brought to her. He would come up later and see how she was.

Indignation almost choked Natalie. She had been really frightened, and that it should be called hysteria, no attention paid to her, made her furious. She was glad however, to have her dinner alone, not to have to sit through the long formal dinner. She drank some tea, ate a little, then sent the maid away. She was no longer afraid, the burglar was gone, Horace was at home.

She heard him and his mother walk up the stairs, chatting. Then listened for him to come on to her. She would tell him all about her fright; now that she was calm he would believe her.

Not one, but a succession of shrieks tore through the house—Mrs. Crandall's voice. Jumping up, Natalie hurried across the landing. Mrs. Crandall was in Horace's arms, still crying out, her room in wild disorder. Her small safe in the wall was open, and Natalie could see that it was empty.

"Call the police! I have been robbed," Mrs. Crandall cried to the excited servants.

"Are you sure it isn't hysteria that ails you?" Natalie asked, and the chill in her voice matched that of her mother-in-law's when she accused her of being hysterical.

"Natalie!" Horace spoke sharply. "Can't you see Mother is distraught?"

"Nonsense! She is hysterical, Horace," Natalie repeated Mrs. Crandall's very words, and then turned and left them.

Mrs. William E. Corey.

International jewel bandits, according to police of Paris and London, were guilty of the theft of a pearl necklace valued at $200,000 stolen from Mrs. William Ellis Corey, formerly Mabel Gilman, noted actress, on her trip from Paris to London, Scotland Yard and police of cities on the continent rounded up well-known jewel thieves, following the sensational theft, but the missing necklace failed to materialize. Mrs. Corey, broken-hearted over the loss, said the necklace was a Christmas gift from her husband, the American steel magnate. It consisted of 130 perfectly matched pearls and was unrivalled in the world, she declared.

LICENSE AIDS CUPID TO FIND WAY

Miss Dorothy Stewart.

Cupid smiled triumphantly when Dr. and Mrs. George David Stewart, prominent in New York society, announced the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Dorothy Irving Stewart, to Edward Hope Coffey, Jr., also of New York. Because Miss Stewart was only twenty and only recently a debutante, her father, who is President of the American Academy of Medicine and a renowned surgeon, told the young couple that there was plenty of time for their marriage and became quite emphatic about it. They thought the matter over, made a quiet trip to the Marriage License Bureau and showed their respective parents the license. Then parental consent was forthcoming. Coffey was a naval aviator during the war and is a Princeton graduate.

LESS SEED WHEAT WILL BE CERTIFIED IN OHIO THIS YEAR

About 10,000 Ohio farmers will harvest next month pure or nearly pure wheat of the standard Ohio varieties, Trumbull, Gladden, Portage, and Fulvio. But not as many of these farmers as last year will have such wheat inspected for certified seed.

This is the result of a changed policy in wheat certification, lately adopted by the Ohio Seed Improvement Association and expressed principally by advance of the inspection fee from $2 to $6 with a dollar extra for each additional field.

The idea is, without diminishing the spread of good seed wheat of standard varieties to practical farm use, to restrict the growing of certified seed to fewer growers, especially experienced and willing to uphold the highest standards.

If certified seed growing were allowed to multiply as in the past years an oversupply would, it is thought, soon appear.

In 1921, 600 farms applied for field inspection. The wheat of only a third of these farms was found fit for seed. Last year, about 900 applied, and about half of the fields passed inspection. This year, only about 150 applications have been received so far, and it is not expected that applications will exceed 200. But a far higher proportion, it is believed, will pass inspection, even at heightened standards now in force.

There will be only three wheat field inspected in Greene County this year. They will be those of W. A. Bickett, Xenia township; A. A. Shoup, Beavercreek township, and Merle Stormont, Cedarville. The inspections will be held June 21.

FARM INCOME IS MORE THAN ACCOUNTS SHOW

Their books balanced by farm management men at the Ohio State University, 28 farms in southern Ohio showed an average labor income of only $237. This was by the farm accounting method now standard.

Then a further survey was taken of produce, roof, and firewood supplied by these farms to their 28 families. Such things generally are not considered in farm bookkeeping.

Conservatively valued at country prices, each farm was found to supply an average of $578.59 in "living" to the family. This raised the average farm family income to about $816.

Then the investigators went into the markets of Portsmouth, a city nearby, and got retail prices, and city rental figures. At this rate, they found that each of the 28 farms was supplying its family $1203.97 worth of "living" a year.

Thus it appears that these 28 farm families which show on their books as making $237 a year, would in even a small city have to make $1440 a year to live in as good a house, and to have as much food as they do now.

Says R. F. Taber, who ran the survey, "An income of $1440 is not enough, especially if one considers that the farmwife and perhaps some of the children help make it. But all is not yet lost and much howling heard today is based on incomplete figures and unjustified."

SEVENTEEN YEAR LOCUST APPEARS IN TWO TOWNSHIPS OF GREENE COUNTY THIS YEAR

The unexplainable phenomenon of the 17-year locust which is making its appearance over the country, has been only noticed in two Greene County localities, by County Agent Ford S. Prince, Caesarcreek and Spring Valley Townships.

The 17-year locust is one of the freaks of nature that has never been fully explained according to authorities on insect life. Eggs of the locust are laid on the underneath side of a tree limb, in a groove worn by the locust, and which eventually causes the limb to drop from the tree, and the tree to die. The eggs hatch in about three weeks and the grubs drop to the ground, where they remain for a period of 17 years, and then awaken to cast off their shell and continue the routine.

The insect does not eat during its entire period of life and comes to life after the 17-year hibernation, in the adult stage.

The main damage of the locust is in laying the eggs in the trees, the insect only attacking young trees and orchards, where the bark is the most tender. Swarms of the insects attack only wooded lands, and their damage is largely felt.

Greene County suffered from a severe outbreak of the insects three years ago, practically every wooded farming community being attacked.

There are also locusts of the one-year variety, and the less numerous variety which appears once every 13 years, and some are thought to come every seven years. The 17-year locust is the most destructive of them all, however.

FARM AGENTS WILL MEET IN CONFERENCE AT WOOSTER JUNE 26

County Agent Ford S. Prince will attend the Wooster Conference, a session of Farm Bureau representatives and extension workers, to be held June 26, 27, and 28 at Wooster, Ohio.

The first session will open at nine o'clock, with an explanation of the new co-operative marketing law, by H. S. Ballard. "Future Organization Plans for Community Marketing," and an open discussion will feature the remainder of the morning meeting. The various phases of Community Marketing Plans, including livestock, dairying, wool, grain, fruit and vegetables, and eggs, with a talk on co-operative purchasing will include the afternoon program.

L. B. Palmer, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, will preside at the Wednesday sessions. Discussions on national plans for commodity marketing, and the relation of extension service to commodity marketing, with an open forum, will include Wednesday morning's program. The chief topic of discussion in the afternoon will be commodity marketing in relation to Farm Bureau work.

Thursday's session will be devoted to the inspection of the work of the Ohio Experiment station.

A demonstration on the construction of a home-made fireless cooker was held by County Agent Ford S. Prince at the home of Mrs. Henry Weller, Sugar Creek Township, Friday afternoon.

A similar demonstration was held Saturday afternoon at the Bank building in Cedarville, for the women of Cedarville Township.

WHEN FARMING PAYS

An Analysis of the Economic,
Political and Social Conditions Which Make
Farming Profitable

By Leonard P. Bennett
KEEPING ACCOUNTS

Keeping accounts is not altogether pleasant work; for one reason because it involves much detail and some mastery of mathematics; and for another reason because it reveals many weak spots which the farmer might cheerfully persuade himself did not exist.

Accounts, in the beginning, are something like that long dreaded visit to the dentist. The dentist seems always to find a cavity, hence the reluctance to consult him. Yet there is all the more reason for the visit. The ultimate benefit outweighs all transient considerations. When the dentist gets the jump on decay and the patient tries prevention, the visits become less painful and expensive, if not less frequent.

Accounts are the dentist of business farming who pokes his instruments into tender places and discovers the decay. A carefully kept set of books will show whether the farmer is marking off enough depreciation, whether he is paying too much for his fertilizer and supplies in comparison with other years, how much his men are producing and whether his yield is proportionate to the expense in time and labor. The farmer may find that instead of making money he is losing it, but the discovery, while unwelcome, is nevertheless wholesome. Forewarned is forearmed. A general reorganization is usually possible in time to save the enterprise.

Farmers in some 1,200 counties kept accounts of the expense, labor and profit connected with their operations during 1922, according to reports to the department of Agriculture.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION

The construction of hard-surfaced roads is proceeding this year in about the same amount as last year, with wages generally higher. Designation of the system of Federal aid highways is now completed in 33 states and practically complete in most of the others.

Thirty states now have a gasoline tax, as compared with four at the beginning of 1921. Most of the revenue goes into road maintenance. Government officials regard the placing of a larger burden of expense upon road users as a step in the right direction.

PANIC OF 1873

Old-timers relate stories of the panic of 1873 that contrast strangely with the present conditions in this country.

Currency inflation led to the panic. "Shin plasters" flooded the country, and business concerns even went so far as to issue tokens,

FOUR COUNTIES ARE REPRESENTED AT MEET

Fayette, Clifton, Greene, and Montgomery Counties, comprising the 19th Farm Bureau district, were represented at the district meeting held at the Greene County Farm Bureau office in this city, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Schoenberger, of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and B. A. Wallace, of the Extension Department of the Ohio State University, were among the Farm Bureau representatives present at the meeting. The chief topic of discussion during the meeting was co-operative marketing.

which they themselves redeemed. There was an era of high prices.

Then special payments were resumed. Shoes, for instance, dropped from $4.50 to $2.50 a pair in three months. Merchants and manufacturers who were overstocked, failed in large numbers.

Germany, by debasing the mark, is inviting financial collapse. Repudiation seems inevitable. Comparatively few farmers have invested (or rather speculated) in the ill-fated mark, there is reason to believe, and so farmers will not lose heavily.

URBAN POPULATION

Urban population suffered during the financial depression two years ago and tens of thousands went back to the small towns or the country. Now the tide is moving in the opposite direction. Factories are paying high wages and building contractors are bidding against each other for unskilled labor. When the counter movement will begin none can say. Nevertheless it is inescapable.

OHIO CROP OF FRUIT ABOUT 75 PER CENT IS PRESENT INDICATION

Present conditions of the apple, peach and other fruit crops indicate a 75 per cent or three-quarter crop this year in Ohio, according to Statistician West, of the State Federal crop reporting service, this week. Blackberry and raspberry prospects are good he said.

"The outlook for fruit this year is much above last year for the condition a year ago was 60 per cent. The crop of summer apples will probably, not be so large as last year, because fewer buds were set after last year's heavy crops of early apples," Statistician West declared.

Seventy-five per cent is a little too high for the crop percentage in Greene County according to the opinion of County Agent Price. Mr. Prince does not believe there will be as much fruit on the whole as last year.

Many varieties of apples were hurt by the late frost according to Mr. Prince, while others were not damaged. The late spring was favorable rather than harmful to the fruit crop, the County Agent said, as it kept the bugs back. A progressive March and snow in May would have resulted in no fruit at all, he said.

POULTRY FARMS GIVE FIGURES FOR MAY AS SHOWN IN REPORT

A report for the month of May of the Poultry farms of the country, has been completed at the Greene County Farm Bureau. Ten poultry farms are included in the report.

HAS WINNING FLOCK OF CHICKENS AGAIN

Miss Helen Finney, daughter of E. E. Finney, of Cedarville Township, who had the highest producing flock of Buff Rock hens in the state during March, for the flocks of that breed on 400 demonstration farms, again led in the score for April with the same flock, according to figures received at the County Farm Bureau office.

Miss Finney's egg production during that month was 59.3 eggs per hen. Joseph Harner of near Osborn, Bath Township, had the fifth highest flock among the demonstration flock owners, of the state, with an egg production of 22.1 per hen for the month. The flock was of the White Leghorn breed.

HOLD DEMONSTRATION

A worm capsule demonstration was held on the farm of L. H. Hartley, Bath Township, Thursday afternoon. J. N. Springs, of that township was in charge of the demonstration.

ANOTHER BROKERAGE OF
NEW YORK FAILS; MORE THAN SEVENTY YEARS OLD

Knauth, Nachod, and Kuhne Drops Out According to
Announcement On Saturday—Latest of Series
of Sensational Suspensions.

New York, June 16.—Failure of the stock brokerage firm of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne was announced on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange today.

It was estimated that the liabilities were $11,000,000, but a members of the firm claimed that they were fully covered by assets.

This is the latest of a sensational series of suspensions which have taken place in Wall Street in the past ten weeks.

The firm of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne, which has been in business for more than 70 years, consists of Rollin C. Newton, Mrs. Mary I. W. Knauth, Oscar L. Gubelman and James F. Shaw.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against the firm in U. S. District Court and Middleton S. Borland was appointed receiver under bond of $50,000.

The following statement was issued by a member of the firm:

"For the protection of all of our creditors, we have consented to the appointment of a receiver for our firm which has had an honorable career for more than 70 years. We are advised that, in this manner, all the equities of creditors can best be preserved so that none will be favored nor preferred over another. It will be found that all securities entrusted to our care are intact and we hope to effect a satisfactory settlement with our creditors at the earliest possible date.

"We own a considerable number of securities which have value, but which on account of market and other conditions, are not readily salable and which, we hope, if conserved and wisely liquidated, will, together with our assets, be found sufficient to pay everything we owe. We will, of course, co-operate with the receiver in every way."

The firm of Knauth, Nachod and Kuhne was admitted to the New York stock exchange March 28, 1895. It conducted a banking and broker business with headquarters at 120 Broadway.

The bankruptcy petition estimated the firm's debts at $11,000,000. The petition designated the firm's collateral as stocks, bonds and other properties, valued at $11,000,000.

Almost simultaneous with the announcement of the failure, a committee of creditors was formed to act both for the creditors as a whole and depositors.

Certain banks, which are secured creditors, will be represented on the committee, but they will give mutual assistance to unsecured creditors.

The creditors who sought the petition in bankruptcy were Otto Volkheim, Arthur Loewenheim, Harry M. Smith, Marvin G. Connelly and Archibald H. Whan.

CONFERENCE FOR AIR LIMITATION
BEING AGITATED

Congress Likely to Demand
That President Call
World Meeting

Washington, June 16.—With France and Great Britain engaged in a quiet, but nevertheless intense race for supremacy of the air, the sixty-eighth Congress which convenes next December is going to demand that President Harding inaugurate another world arms conference to do what the Washington conference failed to do—limit the production of aircraft and submarines.

Sentiment in the last Congress was in favor of such a move and insistent action was withheld only at the instance of the White House and state department where the time is not deemed propitious.

The sentiment in the new congress, however, is going to be stronger, it was declared today by Rep. Thomas S. Butler, Republican of Pennsylvania, chairman of the naval committee.

"Something will have to be done soon," said Butler, "or the next war will bring conflict so horrible that the horrors of the last war will seem pale by comparison. Airplanes and gas were in their infancy during the last war and see what havoc they did. With all the advance that has been made in the last few years the development of the terrible weapons, the next conflict may see whole races wiped out and civilization itself destroyed."

The proper time for issuance of a call for such a conference, Butler said is next spring. By that time, he believes many of the disputes and controversies that now make the summation of such a conference in advisable, will be adjusted and the world will be in a better condition to listen to it.

W. C. T. U. MEMBERS
ATTEND ALL DAY
INSTITUTE FRIDAY

About 85 members of the Xenia W. C. T. U., attended the Union Institute held at the home of Mrs. John Dymond, at Washington and Monroe Streets, Friday.

The session opened at nine o'clock with devotionals. Following music selections by the Misses Dorothy Crawford, and Imogene Dean, a round-table discussion, in charge of Mrs. W. O. Custis, was held on "Why I Am a White Ribboner."

The discussion of various phases of the work of the union, developed the fact that four women, who were among the Crusaders in Xenia, a number of years ago, were members of the Xenia Union.

The main address of the morning session was that of F. H. Young, of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, who talked on "Child Welfare." Mr. Young pointed out the need of social work among the young people, dwelling on the right heritage of children, and their supervision in order that they become useful citizens of the country.

Fifty people were present for the noon luncheon, which was followed by instrumental selections by Miss Mary Noble and Miss Lucile Denham. The Rev. A. J. Furstenberger, pastor of the Friends' Church, gave a talk along the line of "Christian Citizenship," stressing the value of the projects of the W. C. T. U., and the benefits derived by its members.

"An Hour With the Children," was the subject of the interesting talk given by Miss Ervin, world and national secretary of the L. T. L., who told of her insight into the work among children, while touring through the eastern states recently. Colorful and vivid descriptions of Honolulu were given by Mrs. D. W. Cosley, Miss Hazel Ary gave a reading before the members.

HARDING HOPEFUL OF SOLUTION OF
MARINE PROBLEM

President Instructs New Board Chairman to Find Way Out

Washington, June 16.—President Harding, talking informally at a farewell dinner given by members of the United States shipping board to Chairman Albert D. Lasker, declared that government operation of the board's fleet "at present is our only resort." "We must accomplish its complete success," he added.

The retiring chairman of the board was praised for his administration by the president and by his colleagues, after which he was presented with a massive sterling silver plaque.

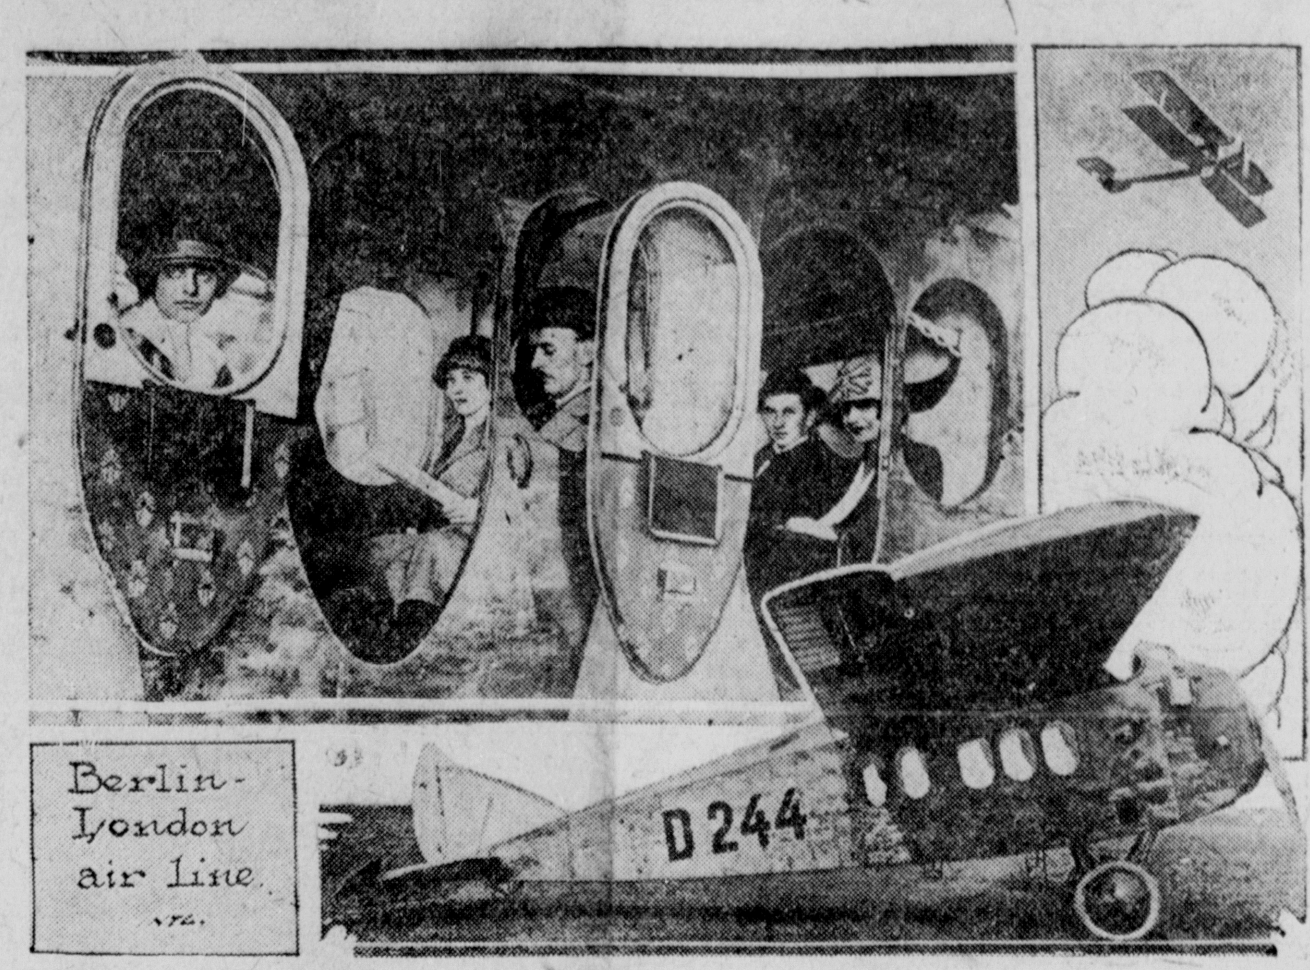

The president's remarks were of a most informal nature, made while he remained seated. He expressed disappointment in the failure of the ship subsidy bill to pass at the last session of congress and expressed the belief that if the plan had been fully understood it would have won out. He had seen so many manifestations of the desire of other nations to impede the progress of the United States on the seas that failure of the subsidy bill was especially displeasing to him, he said.

The president voiced his personal regret in losing Mr. Lasker as head of the board and he had chosen E. P. Farley as his successor because of his "youth, vigor and experience in shipping." "I love the conviction that America can outdo anyone else in the world," he concluded. "I am going to preach that gospel as long as I live, whether I am president or not."

The shipping board is known to be planning an extensive investigation on information that the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Great Northern railways are operating under agreements with two steamship concerns which discriminate against the American merchant marine on the Pacific.

The Japanese lines involved are the Osaka Kabushiki Kaisha (Osaka mercantile steamship company, under contract with its 106 ships with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Nippon Yusen Kabushiki Kaisha of Tokyo, under contract with the Great Northern. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul arrangement calls for preferential services on business handled between Seattle and China, Russia, Japan and the Philippines. The Great Northern arrangement names the same oriental territory and Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco, Everett and Port Townsend.

Lumber Yard At Sidney Swept By Fire
Early Saturday Causing Loss Of $350,000

Sidney, O., June 16.—All buildings and property of the William Klipstine Lumber Company plant and yards, South Walnut Street, one of the largest subsidiary organizations of the Kuntz Lumber company, Dayton, are but a smoldering charred ruins as the result of a fire which swept all before it early Saturday morning.

Total loss as the result of the blaze is estimated at $350,000. The property was covered by insurance.

The plant will be rebuilt at once, according to Peter Kuntz, head of the Peter Kuntz company, associate lumberman, who arrived this morning from Dayton to view the ruins.

The north end of the plant was all ablaze when the fire was first discovered at 4:30 a. m. The Sidney fire department was called. Firemen endeavored to check the blaze—but so far had the conflagration progressed before it was discovered, that it was soon found impossible to raze any of the buildings.

Firemen then devoted their attention to preventing the flames spreading to the three storage tanks containing gasoline and oil at an oil station of the Refiners' Oil company, about one hundred feet away from the burning lumber plant.

Besides the buildings of the company, three carloads of lumber standing on a siding near the plant were consumed by the flames.

The greatest loss was the main building, a large structure 200 by 150 feet. The brick office building, though completely destroyed inside, was the only building of the plant left standing. There were three other buildings destroyed, among them the large mill-room, 100 by 50 feet.

The company had just laid in a complete stock of lumber. This together with the real property of the plant, met destruction by the blaze.

William Klipstine, manager of the plant, was in Cincinnati on business.

Two double houses across the street from the Klipstine yard caught fire and were burned with their contents. The houses were occupied by the families of David Oldham, G. E. Shade, William Stroul, William Eberle and James Miller. No insurance was carried on the buildings, but the furniture was partially covered.

FIVE ALLEGED DESPERADOES ARE CAPTURED IN CENTRAL OHIO

High Officials Admit Arrests Are Among Most Important Ever Made in That Part of the State—Takes Place Near Newark.

Newark, O., June 16.—What is admitted by high officials in government circles to be one of the most important captures ever made in central Ohio was completed at 4 o'clock this morning by Sheriff Fred Vogelmeier and specially deputized men, in a large barn near Central City, three miles west of here at daybreak today. The posse surrounded the barn and Sheriff Vogelmeier climbed up into the hay mow where the five men slept and called to them to surrender, which they did without a struggle. They gave the names of Carl Halsey, 32, native of Australia; John Harley, 49, Boston, Mass.; J. S. Brown, 32, Steubenville, O.; Dave Tallman, 25, Clark, W. Va. and James Scott, 51, "home anywhere."

One thousand dollars, all in currency, was found secreted in various parts of the clothing of all the men. A search for an automobile the men are known to have ridden in is being made and a search of the premises is also going on.

A tip several weeks ago, told that a party of fourteen desperate men, all heavily armed, were committing robberies, in this and other sections. Hence the close watch since.

The whole affair is being kept as much of a secret as possible, but it was admitted that one of the five captured is wanted for having murdered a man during a recent robbery. The search for the other nine men of the party is still going on.

FLOOD REACHES
SERIOUS STAGE
IN THE WEST

Lincoln, Neb., June 16.—The flood in the Platte river valley was reaching a serious stage today. The South Platte river at Ogallala, Neb., was out of its banks, flooding homes in that town and was continuing to rise. Residents here were hurriedly seeking higher ground.

Neither County commissioners had been notified Monday of the flood danger but had failed to take preventive measures.

The rain soaked section in Northwestern Nebraska near Norfolk, was visited by a severe tornado late yesterday which did much damage to crops and farm buildings, but failed to strike a single village.

MINERS WILL MAKE
FIGHT FOR INCREASE IN THEIR WAGES

Pittsburg, Pa., June 16.—Defeat of conservative forces of the United Mine Workers in the Scranton anthracite representing 50,000 miners, when Rinaldi Cappellini was elected president over William J. Brennan, is taken here to mean the miners will make a determined fight for a big increase in wages and shorter hours.

This action, it was declared, is expected to disrupt plans for successful negotiations between miners and operators in July when the new contract will be considered. Brennan represented the conservative or administration element of the anthracite workers, while Cappellini, former mine worker organizer, is said to be extreme in his policies. The election was held yesterday and unofficial returns today indicated that result.

Federal fuel distributor Frank R. Wadleigh recently declared at Washington that should radicals get control of the anthracite fields a serious fuel crisis might be precipitated.

Macedonians Organize Nationalist Movement Demanding
Autonomy—Refugees Declare Civil War
Exists in Bulgaria.

Athens, June 16.—The Balkan volcano again is threatening eruption today as a result of the Bulgarian overthrow. Fugitives reaching the Thracian frontier declare that the Sofia uprising which overturned the Stamboulsky government, was distinctly militaristic.

Macedonians have organized a nationalist movement, demanding Macedonian autonomy. Any attempt to set up an independent republic in Macedonia would be sure to lead to international difficulties.

Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania may join hands in active resistance if the Macedonians attempt to set up autonomy.

Belgrade, June 16.—Refugees arriving today from Bulgaria report that civil war exists there.

(Note: Declarations by Bulgarian refugees of civil war in Bulgaria is contradicted by claims of the revolutionary government at Sofia. According to news given out, through the Sofia military censor, the armed peasant bands are suppressed and order is being restored.

EARLY ACTION
ON IMMIGRATION
PROBLEM ASKED

Bootlegging of Aliens Beyond Control of U. S. Officials

Washington, June 16.—The immigration problem, which recently has developed some alarming aspects, occupied chief attention at the cabinet meeting.

Conditions at Ellis Island, resulting this week in the resignation of Immigration Commissioner Robert E. Tod, came in for a large part of the discussion.

After the cabinet session a White House spokesman made two important announcements. They were: First, congress will be urged by the administration as soon as it meets in December to pass Secretary of Labor Davis' bill for the registration of all aliens. This legislation is desired as a means of stopping the growing influx of foreigners coming into the United States illegally and to help in the task of Americanizing those lawfully admitted. Second, President Harding has ordered a rigid investigation of the charges made by Commissioner Tod in presenting his resignation.

The imperative necessity for early action to solve the immigration problem was stressed before the cabinet by Secretary Davis. "Bootlegging" of aliens, he frankly stated, is getting out of hand.

Secretary Davis told of one case of 5,000 Chinese who have deserted ships on which they came into New York as members of the crews and are now working under cover in and around the metropolis. He estimated it will cost the government upwards of a million dollars to round up these inadmissibles and deport them.

Deportations already have begun where with the small force available it has been possible to locate some of the Chinese, the secretary stated, but the task confronted is an extremely difficult one and will require a large number of men and considerable time, as well as funds, to complete. The possibility is that many of the orientals never will be apprehended.

"Bootlegging" of aliens is being carried on more or less extensively at many places on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts and along the borders between the United States and Canada and Mexico.

Frequent efforts to smuggle in Chinese from Cuba have been apprehended by immigration agents, operating in Florida. Orientals have been slipping in on the Pacific coast for years, largely by desertions from ships. The influx across the border from Mexico and Canada also has been extensive, it is stated.

The White House spokesman said the "bootlegging" of aliens was one of the most troublesome problems now confronted by the government in its law enforcement endeavors. Investigation has revealed apparent collusion between parties in other countries and here.

DEBT CONFERENCE WILL BE ENDED

Washington, June 16.—Conferences over the final wording of the British-American debt agreement probably will be resumed next week, officials of the American commission said today.

British Ambassador Geddes with new instructions from his government, is said to be ready to communicate to this government the willingness of the British to furnish this government with ample advance notice of intention to exercise the option of paying in liberty bonds or cash the regular installments already agreed upon.

Members of the American commission insisted that the British should inform the United States ahead of time when it is proposed to meet the payment in bonds. The form of payment would have an influence in treasury financing to meet its own requirements.

ITALY TO SUPPORT
BRITISH RUHR POLICY

London June 16.—Italy has indicated she will support Great Britain's Ruhr policy, it was learned today.

A Central News dispatch from Rome said the fascist press opposed France's demand that Germany cease passive resistance in the Ruhr before reparations negotiations open.

Great Britain will make no further move until France replies to the British memorandum, demanding more light upon France's Ruhr policy and especially the French definition of "passive resistance."

It is reported that Premier Poincare may propose an entirely new reparations scheme.

The French reply is expected about Wednesday.

FIRE CAUSES LOSS OF HALF MILLION

Pittsburgh, June 16.—Fire raging at the Atlantic Refining Company's plant here today has so far caused damage of $500,000 and the injury of fourteen firemen. The city was swept by dense smoke from the spectacular blaze which started late yesterday when an oil tank was struck by lightning. A fire zone a mile square was established.

TAXPAYERS WILL PAY
$30,000 FOR PRIMARY
TO DECIDE NOTHING

Cincinnati, O., June 16.—Cincinnati tax payers will put up $30,000 to $35,000 next August for the expenses of a primary election, the results of which will disclose nothing more than they know today.

This is because there will not be a contest for either a Democratic or Republican nomination.

With no contests for nominations in either party, the vote cast at the primary is expected to be small, so it is estimated that the tax payers will pay not less than $1 a ballot, for the privilege of having the voters place their stamp of approval on what the party organizations have just done for them.

HANDCUFFS SPOIL
THE EVENING FOR CLEVELAND STUDENT

Cleveland, O., June 16.—There's one university school youth who swore a solemn oath today never to voluntarily don handcuffs again.

Last night the young man was at the home of his "best girl" in East Cleveland, waiting to escort her to the commencement dance. While he waited the girl's father showed him a curious pair of handcuffs. The young man tried them on. There was a click. The handcuffs locked.

Efforts to unlock them were futile. The sheriff's office was called, an assortment of keys tried, but it was not until the orchestra at the dance was playing "Three o'clock in the morning" that the youth was released.

Neither boy nor girl was present.

NO FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR SERGEANT AT ARMS

Columbus, O., June 16.—Since no funds for the payment of a successor to the late Colonel E. S. Bryant, former sergeant at arms of the Ohio Senate, would be available unless authorized by the Legislature, it is probable that no appointment to the position will be made until the State Legislature again convenes.

Colonel Harry Knox, Marietta, who served as sergeant and custodian during the illness of Colonel Bryant throughout the last session, had been asked to receive the appointment, it is said.

OFFICIAL IS DEAD.

Youngstown, O., June 16.—William Edwards Manning, 53, vice president in charge of sales of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, died late last night after a brief illness. Mr. Manning was stricken while on a business trip in New York.

NAVAL BALLOONS
ARE FIRED UPON

Washington, June 16.—Aroused by recent gunfire attacks on balloons flying over the state of West Virginia the Navy Department announced today that every effort would be made to apprehend the person responsible.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt addressed a letter to Governor Morgan of West Virginia, asking his co-operation in breaking up this practice.

S. D. FESS PREDICTS RE-ELECTION OF HARDING IN 1924

Prediction that President Harding will be re-elected by as large a majority in 1924 as he received in 1920, providing facts relative to the achievements of the administration are placed before the public, was made by J. S. Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs, in an address at the annual Montgomery County Republican picnic at Forest Park, Dayton, Friday.

Dr. Fess was the last of a number of speakers on the program and his address received the accomplishments of the Republican administration. He told of the wonders in finance accomplished by President Harding and ended with a fervent plea for support of his policy and desire for the entrance of this country into the World Court plan. Other speakers included Daniel C. Brower, city and county Republican chairman; Congressman Roy G. Fitzgerald; Judge William Powell, and Mrs. A. S. Bickham. Congressman Fitzgerald who acted as toastmaster, read telegrams of regret from Secretary of State Thad Brown; Attorney General C. C. Crabbe; from George H. Clark, chairman of the Ohio Republican Executive Committee and from John Leyaldin for Leon C. Herrick, state director of highways.

"The greatest thing a nation must have during any contest is the information on which the judgment must be made," said Senator Fess. "The Republican party has never lost when it has gone before the people with the issue it believes in. In 1896 it won on the platform of sound money, when the Democrats were advocating the 16 to 1 ratio and unlimited coinage of silver."

In 1900 the problems of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines faced the nation. The Democrats said we must have no imperialism. The Republicans offered to place these nations on a business basis, educating their peoples and again were given the confidence of the voters.

"The same question, in a much more dramatic and exciting fashion was presented in 1920 when the Democrats urged the league to end all wars. They said without participation of this nation in the league the war would not end.

"When a Republican congress passed a resolution to end the war, the Democratic president vetoed it. When we denounced the league, we carried the question to the voters and elected Warren G. Harding by the most overwhelming majority ever accorded a president of the United States. All we need is to see that the correct information is carried to the voters. If his accomplishments are carried to the voters he will be re-elected by the same majority he was accorded in 1920."

Candidacy of McAdoo To Be Announced

William G. McAdoo

William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, soon will make formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President, according to his friends in Kansas City, who met and conferred with him there while he was en route to Los Angeles. The formal announcement, it is said, will be made in order that his strength may not be dissipated by the whipping of his followers into line for other candidates.

EXCITEMENT HIGH FOR SUNDAY GAME

Fans are showing more than ordinary interest in the battle at Dickerson Park Sunday where the Xenia Red Sox and the C. M. I. A. Club of Dayton clash in a game scheduled to be one of the tightest exhibitions of the season.

Both teams are on edge for the conflict and each has dropped but a single game so that when they get together Sunday the rival lines will make a strong bid to continue their winning ways. Some team's crack baseball record is going to be shattered at the local diamond Sunday and supporters of the Xenia combination are hoping that it will be the Gem City nine that will be sent back with another blemish on its baseball escutcheon.

Lewis and Jones will be available for hurling duties for the Red Sox, according to announcement of the management. Lewis has been getting away in fine shape this season, and appears to have all his old time skill in making the horsehide behave. Jones may be rushed into the breach at any moment which gives the Red Sox plenty of pitching.

Management of the Red Sox anticipates the largest crowd of the season for this game, because of the interest that has so far shown itself. With right weather it is expected the Park will be crowded for the clash. The Red Sox will lineup as follows: Shoe, catcher; 1st, Willett; 2nd, Peterson; 3rd, Spritz; 4th, Sterling; 5th, Anderson; 6th, Porter; 7th, Cunningham.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock in charge of competent officials.

FANS TO WATCH TUCKER SUNDAY

The Bayliffs will tackle a sturdy diamond foe at Washington Park Sunday afternoon when they engage the Hamilton Movers of Cincinnati.

Roy Bayliff and his athletes are out

to check the onrush of the nine who has been carving history around Hamilton County. Bayliff has two star pitchers set for the Movers. He will start Curt Free and Willie McDonnell will also be on hand and ready to go into the game in case that Curt does not fare well. The fans have been pretty sweet on Tucker who is playing first base for the Bayliffs and they are wondering how he is going to fare against the offerings sent up by Burg, the star moundsman of the Movers. Tucker is batting around the .500 mark at present and he has walloped the slants of all opposing pitchers. If the locals can get to Burg, they believe they will be able to bat themselves to a victory. In any case the game is liable to develop into a pitcher's battle as both Burg and Free are star twirlers.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock with Norris in charge.

HAGAN HAS NO ALIBI

Troon, Scotland, June 16.—"I'll be back again," declared Walter Hagen, the 1922 British open champion, as he sailed for the United States on the Berengaria today after a vain but glorious attempt to again win the open. With him sailed Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel and Charley Hoffner.

Hagen missed out winning by the narrow margin of one stroke. "I can't blame the weather," Hagen said, "but it was a factor against us. We got frightfully cold waiting to drive off. The harrumphing of the hunched clubs did not make any difference but I dislike the unsportsmanlike manner of issuing the barring order at the eleventh hour. But I'll be back again."

Arthur Havers, the son of a steward of an English club, and one of the most prominent of the younger set of professionals to displace the old guard of British golfers is the real hero of England today. He played a steady, methodical game, succeeding where such English lights as George Duncan, James Braid, Abe Mitchell and Roger Wethered failed.

RESERVES READY FOR MOOSE

The Xenia Reserves are all set for Sunday's big game with the St. Paris Moose to be staged at the old Reserve Park, Cincinnati Avenue.

The team has finished practice preparations for what the management believes will be one of the toughest assignments of the season, that of defeating a combination that has been taking all comers into camp this season. The Moose outfit was defeated by the Bayliffs here earlier in the season but the team has been strengthened since then and the Reserves management is taking no chances with the visitors.

Wical of Paintersville, former Kitty League pitcher, will be on the mound for the Reserves with Green behind bat. Owens will be at first base, Leahy at second, with Shadley at the short field and DeAtley at third. Shaw, Ary, Holland, Milburn and Chance will perform in the gardens.

The Reserves have erected a new grandstand at the Cincinnati Avenue Park to take care of 1,000 people and there is plenty of parking space for machines. The game started at 2:30 o'clock. Admission for men will be 25 cents while women will be admitted free.

Smith then hit sharply into left field scoring Reutinger and Euell, and Zell smacked the agate for two bases, scoring Smith. Adair hit scored Zell with the winning run.

TWENTY FIREMEN HURT IN MILLION DOLLAR OIL BLAZE

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 16.—Twenty firemen were seriously injured, some probably fatally, in collapse of 100,000 gallon oil tank at the Atlantic Refining Company. Fire has been raging at the plant since yesterday afternoon and damage may reach over $1,500,000.

When the huge oil tank buckled a red hot steel roof dropped into liquid oil and fire gushed in every direction, catching a crew of firemen. Several spectators a hundred yards from the fire lines were burned.

Rescue work was hampered by the blaze and smoke but several firemen had been removed and taken to hospitals.

Two 50,000 gallon gasoline tanks exploded, showering burning oil for nearly a block. Residents in the neighborhood fled. Several smaller fires started.

The entire fire department of Pittsburgh is battling with the conflagration which threatens to sweep a wide area.

At 2 o'clock the fire was raging over an area of nine blocks and firemen unable to cope with the burning oil were trying to save the neighboring section of the city.

Five firemen have already been taken from the ruins in serious condition. They are in hospitals. The fate of 15 others was in doubt.

Officials of the Atlantic Refining Company declared the loss had already reached $1,500,000 and unless the flames are checked a higher loss is probable.

NEW LEGISLATION DEFEATS PURPOSE OF SECHO LAW

New legislation which becomes effective early in August defeats the purpose of an order from the State Department of Education issued ten months ago, according to word received by County Supt. of Schools H. C. Aultman.

The original idea required certain additional training for teachers after July 1 seeking a renewal of a certificate or for the conversion of a five or eight year certificate into a life certificate. Boards of examiners were ordered to file records providing additional training.

Legislation which becomes effective in August, however, provided that the Director of Education may prescribe additional training for the removal or conversion of any kind of certificate but that such prescription of additional training shall not apply to teachers with 12 years or more of experience. The clause eliminates the possibility of requiring additional training for teachers with more than 12 years experience.

The department may, however, establish additional training for all with less than 12 years experience and local boards of examiners, may require additional training for renewals of any or all certificates. The requirement for this year is five semester hours of added training. For renewals in 1924 the requirement formerly proposed was nine semester hours of, added training not more than half of which may be extension class credit.

Greene County board will follow the requirements as prescribed by the State director, according to Supt. Aultman.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS OF STATE

Columbus, June 16.—According to the annual report of the state department of education, there were 1,358,094 children in Ohio schools during the past year. These youngsters were taught by 36,399 teachers, of whom 7,814 are high school instructors. There were 117,649 8-year-olds among the pupils. This is the high point for any age. The lowest age representation is from 17 to 18. There were but 81,161 of this class. Boys lead the girls on the rolls by 1,000. The general enrollment shows a steady increase. The high school percentage alone is more than 175,000, or 16.5 per cent of the state's total population.

Thirty per cent of the Ohio pupils are related, that is, they are behind the grade in which educators believe they belong, and only 4.4 per cent are ahead of their class. Almost 110,000 pupils failed last year. The average school year is 178 days.

Peking, June 16.—Between the north and the Yang great waver on the south, Marshal Tse Kia-China's latest military dictatorship is supreme. He is the tator, the Chih Li party, Chinese leadership is rapidly rallying behind the new leader and the only hesitation manifested against him, owing the successful coup through rich President Li Yuan Hung was overthrown, is within the treaty ports where opposition is made safe by the protection of the foreign troops. The cabinet under the provisional constitution is slowly taking up governmental business. Foreign press in China is urging a strong attitude on the part of the foreign powers but the diplomatic body has declined to take any action, adopting an apparent attitude of "watchful waiting" for further developments.

S. D. FESS PREDICTS RE-ELECTION OF HARDING IN 1924

Prediction that President Harding will be re-elected by as large a majority in 1924 as he received in 1920, providing facts relative to the achievements of the administration are placed before the public, was made by U. S. Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs, in an address at the annual Montgomery County Republican picnic at Forest Park Dayton, Friday.

Dr. Fess was the last of a number of speakers on the program and his address received the acclamations of the Republican administration. He told of the wonders in finance accomplished by President Harding and ended with a fervent plea for support of his policy and desire for the entrance of this country into the World Court plan. Other speakers included Daniel C. Brower, city and county Republican chairman; Congressman Roy G. Fitzgerald, judge William Powell, and Mrs. A. S. Bickham, congresswoman Fitzgerald who acted as toastmaster, read telegrams of regret from Secretary of State Charles Brown; Attorney General C. C. Crabbe; from George H. Clark, chairman of the Ohio Republican Executive Committee and from John Leary, director of highways.

"The greatest thing a nation must have during any contest is the information on which the judgment must be made," said Senator Fess. "The Republican party has never lost when it has gone before the people with the issue it believes in. In 1896 it won on the platform of sound money, when the Democrats were advocating the 16 to 1 ratio and unlimited coinage of silver.

"In 1900 the problems of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines faced the nation. The Democrats said we must have no imperialism. The Republicans offered to place these nations on a business basis, educating their peoples and again were given the confidence of the voters.

"The same question, in a much more dramatic and exciting fashion was presented in 1920 when the Democrats urged the league to end all wars. They said without participation of this nation in the league the war would not end.

"When a Republican congress passed a resolution to end the war, the Democratic president vetoed it. When we denounced the league, we carried the question to the voters and elected Warren G. Harding by the most overwhelming majority ever accorded a president of the United States. All we need is to see that the correct information is carried to the voters. If his accomplishments are carried to the voters he will be re-elected by the same majority he was accorded in 1920."

Candidacy of McAdoo To Be Announced

William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, soon will make formal announcement of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President, according to his friends in Kansas City, who met and conferred with him there while he was en route to Los Angeles. The formal announcement, it is said, will be made in order that his strength may not be dissipated by the whipping of his followers into line for other candidates.

Fans are showing more than ordinary interest in the battle at Dickerson Park Sunday where the Xenia Red Sox and the C. M. I. A. Club of Trotton clash in a game scheduled to be one of the tightest exhibitions of the season.

Both teams are on edge for the conflict and each has dropped but a single game so that when they get together Sunday the rival nines will make a strong bid to continue their winning ways. Some team's crack base balling record is going to be shattered at the local diamond Sunday and supporters of the Xenia combination are hoping that it will be the Gem City nine that will be sent back with another blemish on its baseball escutcheon.

Lewis and Jones will be available for hurling duties for the Red Sox, according to announcement of the management. Lewis has been getting away in fine shape this season, and appears to have all his old time skill in making the horseshoe behave. Jones may be rushed into the breach at any moment which gives the Red Sox plenty of pitching.

Management of the Red Sox anticipates the largest crowd of the season for this game, because of the interest that has so far shown itself. With right weather it is expected the Park will be crowded for the clash. The Red Sox will lineup as follows: Shoecraft, 1b; Willet, 2b; Peterson, 3b; Spring, 3b; Sterling, c; Anderson, rf; Porter, cf; Cunningham, lf.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock in charge of competent officials.

FANS TO WATCH TUCKER SUNDAY
The Bayliffs will tackle a sturdy diamond foe at Washington Park Sunday afternoon when they engage the Hamilton Movers of Cincinnati. Roy Bayliff and his athletes are out to check the onrush of the nine who has been carving history around Hamilton County. Bayliff has two star pitchers set for the Movers. He will start Curt Free and Willie McDonnell will also be on hand and ready to go into the game in case that Curt does not fare well. The fans have been pretty sweet on Tucker who is playing first base for the Bayliffs and they are wondering how he is going to fare against the offerings sent up by Burg, the star moundman of the Movers. Tucker is batting around the .500 mark at present and he has walloped the slants of all opposing pitchers. If the locals can get to Burg, they believe they will be able to bat themselves to a victory. In any case the game is liable to develop into a pitcher's battle as both Burg and Free are star twirlers.

The game will start at 2:30 o'clock with Norris in charge.

HAGAN HAD NO ALIBI
Troon, Scotland, June 16.—"I'll be back again," declared Walter Hagen the 1922 British open champion, as he sailed for the United States on the Bernzaria today after a vain but glorious attempt to again win the open. With him sailed Gene Sarazen, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel and Charley Hottel.

Hagen missed out winning by the narrow margin of one stroke. "I can't blame the weather," Hagen said, "but it was a factor against us. We got frightfully cold waiting to drive off. The barring of the hunched clubs did not make any difference but I dislike the unsportsmanlike manner of issuing the starting order at the eleventh hour. But I'll be back again."

Arthur Havers, the son of a steward of an English club and one of the most prominent of the younger set of professionals to displace the old guard of British golfers is the real hero of England today. He played a steady, methodical game, succeeding where such English lights as George Duncan, James Braid, Abe Mitchell and Roger Wethered failed.

RESERVES READY FOR MOOSE
The Xenia Reserves are all set for Sunday's big game with the St. Paris Moose to be staged at the old Reserve Park, Cincinnati Avenue.

The team has finished practice preparations for what the management believes will be one of the toughest assignments of the season, that of defeating a combination that has been taking all comers into camp this season. The Moose outfit was defeated by the Bayliffs here earlier in the season but the team has been strengthened since then and the Reserves management is taking no chances with the visitors.

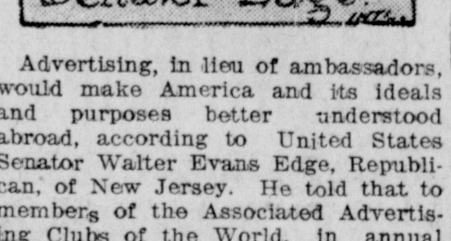

Wical of Paintersville, former Kitty League pitcher, will be on the mound for the Reserves with Green behind bat. Owens will be at first base, Leahy at second, with Shadley at the short field and DeAtaley at third. Shaw, Ary, Holland, Milburn and Chance will perform in the gardens.

The Reserves have erected a new grandstand at the Cincinnati Avenue Park to take care of 1,000 people and there is plenty of parking space for machines. The game started at 2:30 o'clock. Admission for men will be 25 cents while women will be admitted free.

TROOP 1 WINS BALL GAME
Staging a sensational ninth inning rally, Troop 1, Boy Scouts, defeated troop 2, by a 10 to 9 score, Friday afternoon.

Troop 1 went into the final frame with the score standing 9 to 6 against them. Reutinger, first up, singled and stole second. The hit and run was worked, Buell being safe on his bunt while Reutinger took third. Smith then hit sharply into left field scoring Reutinger and Buell, and Zell smacked the agate for two bases, scoring Smith. Adair hit scored Zell with the winning run.

Believes "Ads" Better Than Ambassadors

Advertising, in lieu of ambassadors, would make America and its ideals and purposes better understood abroad, according to United States Senator Walter Evans Edge, Republican, of New Jersey. He told that to members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, in annual session at Atlantic City, New Jersey. "Lord knows," he added, "we need a better understanding with our friends overseas."

STOP BACKACHE, KIDNEY TROUBLE
Backache, Rheumatic Pains, dull headache, tired feeling, too frequent urination, discolored or strong odor are symptoms of kidney and bladder trouble. "I was always having a backache which caused me great suffering," writes Mrs. Feber, Medford, Mass. "Could not sleep and at times I could not stand straight. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and found relief." Stop backache, kidney and bladder troubles with Foley Kidney Pills. Sayre & Hemphill. adv

TWENTY FIREMEN HURT IN MILLION DOLLAR OIL BLAZE

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 16.—Twenty firemen were seriously injured, some probably fatally, in collapse of 100,000 gallon oil tank at the Atlantic Refining Company. Fire has been raging at the plant since yesterday afternoon and damage may reach over $1,500,000.

When the huge oil tank buckled a red hot steel roof dropped into liquid oil and fire gushed in every direction, catching a crew of firemen. Several spectators a hundred yards from the fire lines were burned.

Rescue work was hampered by the blaze and smoke but several firemen had been removed and taken to hospitals.

Two 50,000 gallon gasoline tanks exploded, showering burning oil for nearly a block. Residents in the neighborhood fled. Several smaller fires started.

The entire fire department of Pittsburgh is battling with the conflagration which threatens to sweep a wide area.

At 2 o'clock the fire was raging over an area of nine blocks and firemen unable to cope with the burning oil were trying to save the neighboring section of the city.

Five firemen have already been taken from the ruins in serious condition. They are in hospitals. The fate of 15 others is in doubt.

Officials of the Atlantic Refining Company declared the loss had already reached $1,500,000 and unless the flames are checked a higher loss is probable.

NEW LEGISLATION DEFEATS PURPOSE OF SECHO LAW

New legislation which becomes effective early in August defeats the purpose of an order from the State Department of Education issued ten months ago, according to word received by County Supt. of Schools H. C. Aultman.

The original idea required certain additional training for teachers after July 1 seeking a renewal of a certificate or for the conversion of a five or eight year certificate into a life certificate. Boards of examiners were ordered to file rules providing additional training.

Legislation which becomes effective in August, however, provided that the Director of Education may prescribe additional training for the removal or conversion of any kind of certificate but that such prescription of additional training shall not apply to teachers with 12 years or more of experience. The clause eliminates the possibility of requiring additional training for teachers with more than 12 years experience.

The department may, however, establish additional training for all with less than 12 years experience and local boards of examiners may require additional training for renewals of any or all certificates. The requirement for this year is five semester hours of added training. For renewals in 1924 the requirement formerly proposed was nine semester hours of added training not more than half of which may be extension class credit.

Greene County board will follow the requirements as prescribed by the State director, according to Supt. Aultman.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS OF STATE

Columbus, June 16.—According to the annual report of the state department of education, there were 1,358,994 children in Ohio schools during the past year. These youngsters were taught by 36,399 teachers, of whom 7,814 are high school instructors. There were 117,649 8-year-olds among the pupils. This is the high point for any age. The lowest age representation is from 17 to 18. There were but 81,161 of this class. Boys lead the girls on the rolls by 1,000. The general enrollment shows a steady increase. The high school percentage alone is more than 175,000, or 16.5 per cent of the state's total population.

Thirty per cent of the Ohio pupils are related, that is, they are behind the grade in which educators believe they belong, and only 4.4 per cent are ahead of their class. Almost 110,000 pupils failed last year. The average school year is 178 days.

WOMAN EXPLAINS KIDNAPING CASE

Canton, O., June 16.—"I love children but I do not have a mania for them."

This was the only explanation given police today by Mrs. Lillie Van Wicklen, 44, charged with kidnaping three-year-old Russel Harmon from his home here. While the child was playing in the yard, a fourteen-year-old girl appeared on the scene, gathered him in her arms and disappeared.

Mrs. Van Wicklen arrested later, claims that the mother of the child gave him to her when he was ten days old and she kept him until he was eighteen months old and then was compelled to give him back. A number of years ago Mrs. Van Wicklen says she adopted a boy from a Cleveland maternity hospital and she also has an adopted daughter, 12, whom she says was left on her doorstep in Columbus, when a tiny infant.

PRODUCER TO WED "FOLLIES" DANCER

Martha Lorber

Miss Martha Lorber, premier danseuse of the Ziegfeld "Follies," will be Mrs. Carle Carleton No. 2, Broadway (New York) has heard. Carleton, prominent theatrical producer, who recently returned from abroad, has declined to discuss the rumor, but persons who should know have stated that the engagement will soon be announced. He was formerly the husband of Miss Edith Day, musical comedy star, whose marriage to Pat Somerset, the English actor and co-star with her, resulted from a complicated entanglement of heart-strings. Carleton "discovered" Miss Day, made her a star and later divorced her.

FAIR DATES JULY 31 TO AUGUST 3

The annual Greene County Fair will be staged this year from July 31 to August 3, inclusive, according to announcement of dates of all Ohio fairs fixed this week by the Ohio State Fair Board.

The first county fair of the season will be the Highland County Fair at Rainsboro, July 10 to 13. The season will close at Lancaster, October 13 with the Fairfield County Fair. The Ohio State Fair will be held from August 27 to September 1.

REMOVES WALL PAPER OVER HALF CENTURY OLD; OWNER RECALLS

While papering a room at the home of George Shank, north of Alpha, recently, William Burba, of this city, paperhanger for the Fred F. Graham paper store, removed four layers of wall paper one of which bore the date of 1872. The first coating of paper had been put on by George Huston, of Alpha. Mr. Shank, who has lived in the house all of his life, recalls of seeing that paper put on when he was a small boy.

Three new coats of paper were put on the walls since the first, fifty-one years and two days passing since the first papering. The Shank home was built in 1868.

FINAL SETTLEMENT WITH GOVERNMENT MADE BY RAILROAD

Washington, June 16.—An agreement to pay into the treasury $90,000,000 has been made by the Pennsylvania railroad system as the result of final settlement between the railroad and the government of all accounts arising out of the wartime federal control.

The Pennsylvania's payment will reimburse the government for the cost of a large number of additions and betterments made to its lines during the period of government control, which overbalanced all of the road's claims against the treasury for damages, under-maintenance and other items.

With the Pennsylvania claim out of the way, the railroad administration has now settled the accounts arising from the federal control of companies which own 86 per cent of the country's rail mileage.

MARSHAL KUN IS CHINA'S DICTATOR

Peking, June 16.—Between the great wall on the north and the Yangtse Kiang river on the south, Marshal Tsao Kun, China's latest military dictator, reigns supreme. He is the leader of the Chih Li party. Chinese public opinion is rapidly rallying behind the new leader and the only opposition manifested against him, following the successful coup through which President Li Yuan Hung was overthrown, is within the treaty ports where opposition is made safe by the protection of the foreign troops. The cabinet under the provisional constitution is slowly taking up governmental business. Foreign press in China is urging a strong attitude on the part of the foreign powers but the diplomatic body has declined to take any action, adopting an apparent attitude of "watchful waiting" for further developments.

SHERIFF ATTACKED BY TWO CONVICTS

Port Clinton, O., June 16.—All special privileges have been taken away from Clifford Traux and Donald Reeves, of Toledo, held in connection with the Genoe bank robbery and murder of W. F. Rhodert last November as the result of an attack on Sheriff Quisno in the jail here today.

A close watch has been put over the two men.

According to reports, the attack was said to have been attempted by Traux. The sheriff was said to have been hit with a heavy piece of wood, but not seriously hurt. A search in his cell was reported to have shown that a stool had been broken up and the legs fashioned into weapons.

THE "LEAGUE" NO BETTER NOW THAN IN 1920.

The latest variation on the league of nations theme is that the presidential election in 1920 has been erroneously construed as registration of sentiment against America's entry and that, in reality, the nation desires such participation. This is an unwarranted inference that reflects on the electorate. The league of nations was squarely in issue in that election. The millions that voted for Harding voted against league participation. It is even more preposterous to urge such baseless contention now than it would have been immediately following the election. For at that time the arguments against the league were directed to defects and shortcomings that the then future was relied on to develop. Now those defects and shortcomings have become actual and manifest. Therefore it is fair assumption that the American electorate would be even more overwhelmingly against the covenant, if called on for a verdict on rehearing, than it was in 1920.

IN THE KANSAS CASE.

A hard but hardly mortal blow has fallen on the Kansas Industrial Relations Act by the decision of the United States Supreme Court that the State of Kansas was without power to do so when it fixed wages in the plant of a Kansas packing company. The Court holds this action of the State Industrial Court, upheld by the Kansas Supreme Court, conflicted with the Fourteenth Amendment, thereby depriving, without due process of law, the packing company of its property and its liberty of contract.

Some of the sharpest teeth of that celebrated, sometimes damned, sometimes praised and widely discussed Western statute have been pulled, but all of them have not been drawn. Its anti-picketing and arbitration clauses were not in controversy in this case and are not directly affected by the decision.

The Supreme Court has not utterly destroyed the Kansas Act or the Kansas Idea of dealing with industrial wars. What it has done in its decision is to curb the wage-fixing power of Kansas and of all the States. That opinion calls a sharp halt on the efforts of legislators, State and national, who for a generation have been steadily encroaching upon the rights of the individual in attempts to regulate business and industry in "the public interest."

The Nation had come to a place where a line had to be drawn as nearly as possible between what is undoubtedly the "public interest" and what is not. Somewhat vaguely the Supreme Court has proceeded to draw that line in the Kansas case. While the "public interest" has long been recognized, Chief Justice Taft points out in the opinion:

It has never been supposed, since the adoption of the Constitution, that the business of the butcher, the tailor, the wood-chopper, the mining operator or the miner was clothed with such public interest that the price of his product or his wages could be fixed by State regulations.

Kansas has supposed otherwise. In her effort to end strikes, led by Governor Allen, Kansas had extended the "public interest" to include all manufactures and preparations having to do with human food, with fuel and with the transportation of these. This extension was bound to cut across and through the freedom of contract and the liberty of the individual. By unanimous decision, the Court denied Kansas the right to do these things and held that common callings not clothed with the public interest could not be so clothed by a mere legislative enactment.

LAST OF FOREIGNERS FREED BY CHINESE TRAIN BANDITS.

Eight bearded, shabby men, four of them Americans, the last of the twenty-seven foreign prisoners captured by Chinese bandits from the Shanghai-Peking express near Suchow May 6, arrived at the Tung Hsing mines, near Tsaochwang, last Tuesday.

They came down the mountainside from their prison in the Temple of the Clouds on Patozuku Mountain, in sedan chairs, on donkeys and some walking, with an escort of outlaws.

At the mine compound they saw the last of their brigand hosts and were joyfully greeted by relatives and friends, who had gathered there to welcome them. Baths, clothing and food were awaiting them on a railroad siding stood a train ready to take them to Tsaochwang.

It is expected that all or the majority of the eight will proceed to Shanghai.

The closing scene of the six and one-half weeks of negotiations for the prisoners' release was staged with all the Chinese love of formality. The stage was the village of Tsiliho, fifteen miles from Tsaochwang and two miles down the mountainside from the Temple of the Clouds.

In the center of the group of bandit chieftains and Chinese officials stood Roy Anderson, American, long familiar with Chinese customs and the chosen intermediary of the outlaws and the Peking Government.

All of the foreign captives held by the Patozuku bandits have been released. The bandits demanded that their terms be guaranteed Roy Anderson, who was unable to comply until assurances were received from Tsao Kun, the highest military official in North China and a candidate for President.

The bandits' victory is declared complete, as they have won all they demanded, including a foreign counter-signature of the agreement, thus, fully humiliating the Chinese Government.

Important foreign circles now fear that the bandits' success will encourage other outlaws to seize foreigners with a view of forcing the Chinese Government to accept humiliating terms.

NOT SO MUCH OF A JOKE AS IT MIGHT BE

1903--Twenty Years Ago--1923

The school enumeration of Xenia Township which is now in the hands of the township clerk, shows that there are 423 children of school age in the township.

The D. and X traction line has been having a run of bad luck of late with its cars and has got down to about the last one in the number that is capable of being operated. Accidents and other mishaps have put the company in sore straits.

Necessity is laid upon the Board of Managers of the Theological Seminary of Xenia, to provide an additional building to meet the needs of the work. A large lecture room is needed and it is proposed to erect a building on the northwest corner of the lot, two stories high, furnishing the needed accommodation at a cost of about $10,000.

Mr. O. E. Bradfute has gone on a business trip to Chicago.

HINTS FOR COUNTRY WOMEN.

There is a general and quite unadvised idea that everyone who lives in the country must automatically be healthy and beautiful—an idea probably resulting from the popularity of pastoral poetry during the last generation.

It's true there's less soot—though many an isolated farm is near enough to a railway track to get its share; and with speeding autos, all get more than their share of dust! It's true the air is better, but the sun more fierce, or the winter more keen. And the lack of fundaments flowing hot water discourages anyone from too many beauty treatments and baths. Besides drug stores are apt to be far off, and limited in stock, so few good beauty preparations can be bought.

But try these suggestions. The farmer's wife has plenty of oatmeal about—tie up one tablespoonful into a muslin bag, make a dozen or more bags, they'll keep. Drop one into the bottom of the pitcher of water in each bedroom, it will soften hard water, and it will bleach the skin and give it a soft, smooth surface. This treatment takes up no extra time.

Starch paste, rosemary toilet water, parsley bleach, cucumber milk—these beauty lotions come from your garden, make them up at odd times. An egg shampoo is always possible on a farm—even when it's too expensive to be indulged in by the city girl. Coarse salt kept for stock or for the ice-cream freezer will give you a salt bath with no trouble at all; toilet vinegars can be made from sweet herbs and flowers and ordinary clean vinegar.

You will have to purchase white mineral oil—unless you already have it as a laxative in the medicine cupboard—and a few ounces each of white wax and spermacetti. With these you can make all the creams, milks and lotions you could possibly need.

M. J. M.—You are probably only in need of a good building tonic such as those in which there is cod liver oil. As you gain in weight your troubles will likely disappear.

Eleanor—After using the astringent, massage cream into the skin to soothe it. As your skin is so dry always work a little cream into it after you have used water on it. Wipe off the surplus and dust the skin with a little powder, or omit this if you wish.

H. S. K.—If you gradually acquire a coat of tan you will not have these spells of excessive burning. No lotion that you put on before the exposure will prevent sunburn.

Anxious Girl—Cocoa butter comes in cake form and will be found in an drug store.

K. N. B. S. G. F.—At 14 years, 95 pounds could be considered normal weight if the general health is good. Any of the preparations in which there are honey and almonds will keep the hands soft and relieve their tendency to redness.

Keeps Your Skin Fresh And Clear

The Soap cleanses and purifies the pores, the Ointment soothes and heals any irritation, redness or roughness. Treatment: On retiring smear the affected surface with the Ointment on end of finger. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Do not fail to include the exquisitely scented Cuticura Talcum in your toilet preparations.

Sample each free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 36, Malden 51, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25c and the Talcum 25c. Cuticura Soap shaves without naps.

INTERESTED—Reports show that approximately 27,000 long distance calls are handled every day in the long distance telephone exchange in New York.

MOTHER—"At the 'Mermaid,' by Browning, contains the lines you are interested in:

Have you found your life distasteful? My life did, and does, smack sweet. Was your youth of pleasure wasteful? Mine I saved and hold complete. Did your joys with age diminish? When mine fail me I'll complain. Must in death your daylight finish? My sun sets to rise again.

BIRDLOVER—It is true that thousands of birds, flying at night when it is cloudy, become confused and are killed when they dash themselves into monuments, lighthouses or other structures.

SMOKER—You are wrong. Rice paper is not made from the rice plant, but from the pith of a tree growing in Formosa.

POET—"Intimations of Immortality" by Wordsworth embrace the lines you ask about:

Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting; The soul that rises with us, our life's star; Hath had elsewhere its setting, And cometh from afar. Not in entire forgetfulness, And not in utter nakedness, But trailing clouds of glory, do we come From God, who is our home! Heaven lies about us in our infancy.

MRS. HINCKLEY NERVOUS WRECK

Tells Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting. I could not do my work except a little at a time, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw your little book on to my porch, and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself.

I went right and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles, and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all of my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."—Mrs. O. J. HINCKLEY, 316 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.

Today's Talk

RESTFULNESS

I am of the opinion that if all the great and notable men who have achieved great fame and wealth, were interviewed in nearly every case they would say that if they had life to live over again, they would spend less time making money and more time making friends.

I have noticed that most very rich and powerful men are restless, fidgety, and bear great clouds of worry across their faces.

I have noted another thing—their quick response to the smallest kindnesses and their satisfaction in the presence of one whose spirit has never passed through the sieve of gold!

What a restful influence some people have on us!

How we grow—like the flowers of spring after a fresh shower—when we are with those whose serenity of heart and spirit causes within us no ruffle, no regret, no intermixture of feeling—just restfulness—silent happiness.

You are the one, after all, who matters most in this world—you who make up the great entirety of human movement.

Relax that restfulness of yours—give to others that restfulness of mind, heart and soul that you may most desire for yourself.

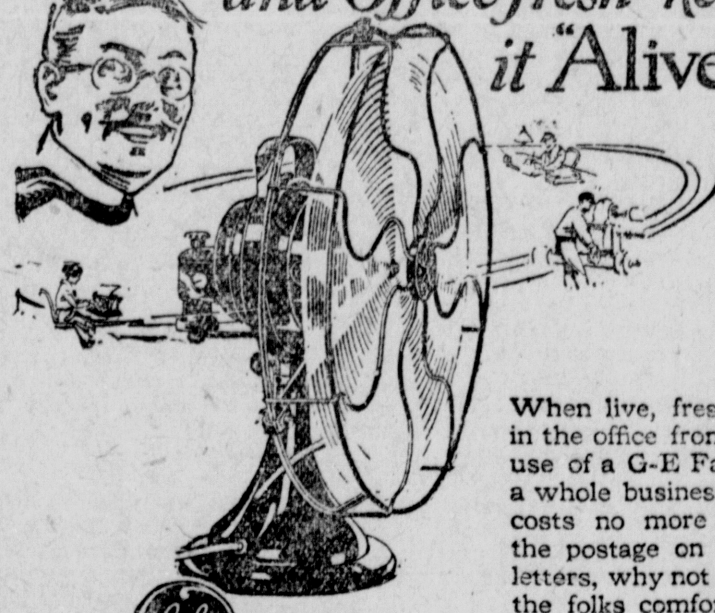

And what restfulness there is in the happy, silent exchange of one mind and heart with another—what understanding, what restfulness!

COMMENCEMENT AT WILBERFORCE WILL START ON SUNDAY

The sixtieth anniversary and commencement exercises of Wilberforce University will open Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, when the Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered to the graduating class by Bishop W. D. Johnson, D. D. of Plains, Georgia, in the Auditorium of Galloway Hall.

The instructors, graduates and distinguished men who will appear on the program during the week, will meet at Carnegie Library, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The line of march headed by Pres. J. A. Gregg and in charge of Major John A. Green, military aids, will proceed to the place of meeting.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, the address will be given to the religious societies by Chaplain O. J. Scott, of the U. S. Army.

Rev. S. B. Jones of Alton, Ill., is to preach the annual sermon at 7:30 o'clock to the graduating class of Payne Theological Seminary. Dean George F. Woodson, Rev. P. S. Hill, and Dr. Summers, instructors of the Seminary will be in charge of the services.

President Gregg anticipates the largest gathering for the week in the history of the school, owing to the several important connectional meetings of the A. M. E. Church and the celebrating of the sixtieth anniversary of the oldest institution of learning among the colored people. Distinguished men from all parts of the country are expected to attend.

During the exercises of the anniversary, Bishop J. M. Connor of Little Rock, Ark., will preside, assisted by Bishops W. H. Heard and L. J. Coppin of Philadelphia. The principal speakers will be Bishop B. F. Lee, who served as the second president of the school and the history of the school is to be given by Bishop J. H. Jones, who was its fourth president. Addresses will be made by Dr. R. C. Ransom of New York, Editor of the A. M. E. Review and Rev. H. Y. Tooker.

Short addresses will be made by representatives from the fifteen Episcopal Districts.

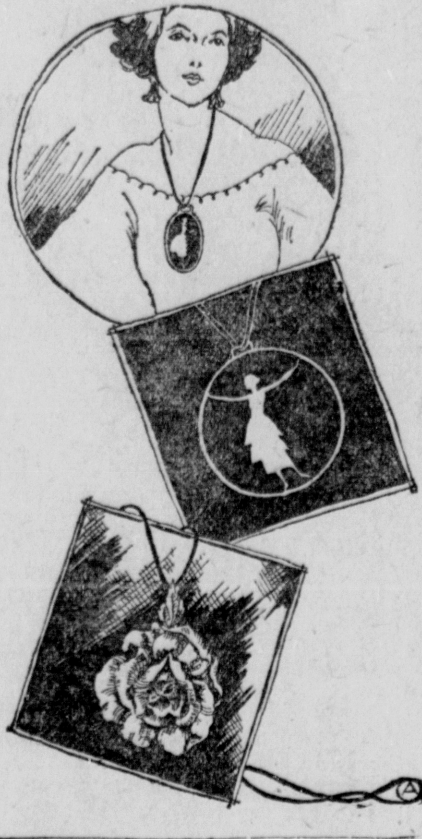

The commencement exercises will close Thursday by an address delivered to the graduates by Hon. L. C. Dyer, congressman from St. Louis, Mo., the author of the famous Dyer Anti-Lynching bill which brought about a long drawn debate in Congress last fall, and which was bitterly opposed by the majority of representatives from the southern states.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

Cincinnati, June 16.—Two fatal automobile accidents happened in Hamilton county within an hour of each other, making the total motor car fatalities 60 since the first of the year. Margaret Boyle, 45, social worker, was instantly killed when crossing a street, and Patrick Keefe, a painter, was killed when his machine was struck by a train at Norwood.

Styles BY LENORE

Carved ivory is much used in novelty costume jewelry and dress accessories. Buckles and dress clasps are features in some of the more expensive dresses, and there are flat pendants of exquisitely carved ivory.

ed silhouettes of human figures, two of which are sketched above, together with a rose pendant which is tinged with a faint flush of pink. These trifles make much appreciated gifts.

WORTH KNOWING

Old-fashioned white cotton tape is used as trimming on colored cotton dresses—for binding edges, or for embroidery combined with colored thread.

Silk parasols in pastel colors are made to match summer frocks. For travel it should be remembered that knitted suits shed dust amazingly well, and while they wrinkle very little, they may be restored to shape by pressing, and they clean as successfully as other materials.

Some of the prettiest evening frocks have a low, oval neckline. To complete the summer frock of cotton or of silk, there are hats made of the same material. A pastel blue Georgette crepe frock on straight lines with pleated panels is accompanied by a wide-brimmed hat having a long, pleated scarf wound around the crown and hanging over the right shoulder.

A new and flattering shade of green is to be noted in little girls' dresses.

Put a layer of the steak in a deep baking dish, sprinkle finely minced raw onion (in all, you will need two large onions), then put in a layer of the kidney pieces; alternate these two layers till both kinds of meat are used up—sprinkle with the onion between each layer. Pour two cups of boiling water over all (to moisten well) and cover with a simple biscuit crust. Bake for two hours in a moderate oven. Serve very hot. MRS. HARRY WILSON SUCCEUMS FRIDAY

Mrs. May Wilson, 44, wife of Harry Wilson, died at her home on the Cedarville and Yellow Springs pike, north of Cedarville, Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Mrs. Wilson had been suffering from a complication of diseases for the past two years, and was taken seriously ill two weeks ago.

Mrs. Wilson had spent all of her life in the vicinity of Cedarville, and was born near that village in February 1879. Her marriage to Mr. Wilson took place June 1, 1904. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson formerly resided between Cedarville and Wilberforce moving to their recent home about a year ago.

Besides her husband, her mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Mitchell of Cedarville, and one brother, J. E. Mitchell of Cedarville, survive. A sister, Mrs. Wilson, died several years ago. Mrs. Wilson was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Clifton.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at ten o'clock from the late residence, with interment at Massies' Creek Cemetery.

RECOVERED FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

"Had stomach trouble three years and finally was in bed eight weeks with terrible cramps," writes A. L. Lyons, Dayton, Ohio. "The doctors did not help me and I could hold nothing on my stomach. Tried Foley Cathartic Tablets and now am a well man. Can eat anything." Sour stomach, headache, bad breath, biliousness and other digestive disorders quickly overcome with Foley Cathartic Tablets. Do not gripe, pain or nauseate. Sayre & Hemphill, adv

Sauce for a Spanish Omelet—Make an ordinary omelet, and put the following sauce upon it before folding it over: Chop one large peeled onion finely and saute it in two tablespoons of butter for several minutes; now add one-fourth teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper, a little Mexican Chili powder, if you have it (just enough to color—but if you haven't it, you may substitute the red paprika, or may even use finely chopped red pepper), and then add one tablespoon of flour and blend smoothly. Also add one green pepper which you have previously cut in two to remove seeds, then boiled for ten minutes in water to cover, drained, and chopped finely. Turn one-half can of tomatoes into this mixture (or use the same quantity of ripe, stewed tomatoes) and let simmer for ten minutes before turning over the omelet. A Spanish omelet makes an excellent luncheon or supper dish. Stewed celery may also be added to this sauce.

Scrambled Tomatoes—Remove skins from six large ripe tomatoes and slice. Add a little butter, salt and pepper and cook in their own juice (with a very little water added) till tender. Then stir two beaten eggs into the hot tomatoes, cook way, and serve.

ELEAZOR

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller entertained Mrs. Bertha Medsker and family of Wilmington at dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mason and son, J. Warren, spent Sunday at Silver Lake.

Miss Dorothy Faulkner returned home Thursday, following her graduation from Ohio Wesleyan University. Six schoolmates of Miss Faulkner are spending several days at her home.

There will be no services at Eleazar Church Sunday. The members will attend the Gypsy Smith meeting at Kingman.

ORGANIZATION OF RECREATION BODY TO BE COMPLETED

The formal organization of the Xenia Community Recreation Association will be completed and officers and committees selected at the organization meeting to be held Monday evening at eight o'clock in the McKinley school auditorium.

Reports on the activities of the organization to the present time and its plans for the summer will be given at the meeting. Officers and committees of the organization have been co-operating on a temporary basis with the understanding that when advisable new committees would be elected for the year.

Members of the organization and others who are interested in its program of furnishing playgrounds and supervised play for Xenia, are invited to the meeting.

NEGRO MUSIC WILL FEATURE MEETING

A community sing to be held at the Water Tower Park, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, is being announced by the executive committee of the East End Community Recreation Association.

Lovers of Negro music are promised a treat at the sing and considerable emphasis will be placed on some of the finer Negro spirituals, which are the gifts of the colored people to America and recognized as the only native American music.

J. M. Pollard of the National Community Service staff, who will be here to assist Frank H. Young for about a week, declared he had never seen a better institute anywhere than that held at East High School Friday night. More than 150 people took part as students or spectators, and the candidates were trained in playground leadership by Mr. Pollard.

Mr. Pollard will speak in some of the churches of the city Sunday and a general invitation to the community sing Sunday afternoon is being extended. Fifteen minutes at the meeting will be given over to the art of story telling.

THE MISFIT

By Jane Phleps

A BURGLAR AND A BURGLARY Chapter XXIII

As Natalie entered her room she had that eerie feeling that accompanies the knowledge that someone is in the room. It was dusk, and, rather ashamed of her feelings, she switched on the light. She glanced around, saw nothing, yet the feeling remained. She moved to her dressing table, laid off her hat and smoothed her hair. Her breath came with a quick intake, smothered quickly.

In the glass she had seen a foot under the big divan at the side of the room. Her heart beat furiously, she wanted to scream but dared not. The man might shoot. With seeming nonchalance she patted her hair, then walked to the closet and laid out a dress. He must not imagine she had seen him. Her jewelry was in the drawer, she evidently had come in before he had time to search, for nothing was disturbed. Dare she touch the bell? She decided not—she had to pass the divan to reach it. And the thought of the man underneath it frightened her. A careless glance in the mirror showed he had changed his position and she had caught the gleam of something—a revolver. She heard Horace's voice, almost held her breath, he would be up in a moment, then a door opened, it was his mother stopping him as usual. All Natalie's self-control vanished. With a piercing scream she rushed to the door, calling "Horace! Horace!"

An oath, a figure flying past her, and she knew no more.

Natalie opened her eyes lying on the divan. Horace was bending over her, his mother standing stern and silent in the doorway.

"What was it, dear?" Horace asked.

"Oh, a man, a burglar—" she gasped shuddering.

"A burglar!" Horace said. "Why, Natalie, you—"

"He was here, Horace, right under the divan. When you didn't come in I screamed. Oh, why did you stop?"

"Nonsense!" Natalie is hysterical, Horace. Mrs. Crandall said in her cold voice. "Call her maid. You will have to hurry to be dressed for dinner in time," she added as she turned away.

"Were you asleep, Natalie, dreaming?" Horace asked as he rang, although it was unnecessary, as the maid already stood in the door.

"No, he was here, Horace, under the couch. I saw him in the mirror. When I screamed he ran out."

"But Natalie, where did he go? I was in the hall at once. There, dear, try and compose yourself. Your imagination has been playing tricks with you." Crandall gave some directions to the maid, then went to his room to dress.

Partly over her fright, indignation helped Natalie to recover herself. Horace would have believed her, comforted her, had it not been for his mother saying that she was hysterical. Did nothing ever shake her calm, ever make her anything but ice? Natalie wished the burglar had been in her room, perhaps she wouldn't be quite so cool about it.

Horace dressed, reassured her. She must lie quiet, have her dinner brought to her. He would come up later and see how she was.

Indignation almost choked Natalie. She had been really frightened, and that it should be called hysteria, no attention paid to her, made her furious. She was glad however, to have her dinner alone, not to have to sit through the long formal dinner. She drank some tea, ate a little, then sent the maid away. She was no longer afraid, the burglar was gone, Horace was at home.

She heard him and his mother walk up the stairs, chatting. Then listened for him to come on to her. She would tell him all about her fright; now that she was calm he would believe her.

Not one, but a succession of shrieks tore through the house—Mrs. Crandall's voice. Jumping up, Natalie hurried across the landing. Mrs. Crandall was in Horace's arms, still crying out, her room in wild disorder. Her small safe in the wall was open, and Natalie could see that it was empty.

"Call the police! I have been robbed," Mrs. Crandall cried to the excited servants.

"Are you sure it isn't hysteria that ails you?" Natalie asked, and the chill in her voice matched that of her mother-in-law's when she accused her of being hysterical.

"Natalie!" Horace spoke sharply. "Can't you see Mother is distraught?"

"Nonsense! She is hysterical, Horace," Natalie repeated Mrs. Crandall's very words, and then turned and left them.

BOY SEEKING TO AID FAMILY—FATHER INJURED

Because his father was injured in an accident several weeks ago, and as a result is not able to make a living for his family, a fifteen year old boy is asking for work in the city or country, through the medium of the Social Service League.

Anyone willing to give the boy employment is asked to call the Social Service League headquarters.

The League in its role of aiding the needy is also asking for a baby buggy for a mother with two young children.

Cupid smiled triumphantly when Dr. and Mrs. George David Stewart, prominent in New York society, announced the engagement of their eldest daughter, Miss Dorothy Irving Stewart, to Edward Hope Coffey, Jr., also of New York. Because Miss Stewart was only twenty and only recently a debutante, her father, who is President of the American Academy of Medicine and a renowned surgeon, told the young couple that there was plenty of time for their marriage and became quite emphatic about it. They thought the matter over, made a quiet trip to the Marriage License Bureau and showed their respective parents the license. Then parental consent was forthcoming. LESS SEED WHEAT WILL BE CERTIFIED IN OHIO THIS YEAR

About 10,000 Ohio farmers will harvest next month pure or nearly pure wheat of the standard Ohio varieties, Trumbull, Gladden, Portage, and Fulbio. But not as many of these farmers as last year will have such wheat inspected for certified seed.

This is the result of a changed policy in wheat certification, lately adopted by the Ohio Seed Improvement Association and expressed principally by advance of the inspection fee from $2 to $6 with a dollar extra for each additional field.

The idea is, without diminishing the spread of good seed wheat of standard varieties to practical farm use, to restrict the growing of certified seed to fewer growers, especially experienced and willing to uphold the highest standards.

If certified seed growing were allowed to multiply as in the past years an oversupply would, it is thought, soon appear.

In 1921, 600 farms applied for field inspection. The wheat of only a third of these farms was found fit for seed. Last year, about 900 applied, and about half of the fields passed inspection. This year, only about 150 applications have been received so far, and it is not expected that applications will exceed 200. But a far higher proportion, it is believed, will pass inspection, even at heightened standards now in force.

There will be only three wheat fields inspected in Greene County this year. They will be those of W. A. Bickett, Xenia township; A. A. Shoup, Beavercreek township, and Merle Stormont, Cedarville. The inspections will be held June 21.

FARM INCOME IS MORE THAN ACCOUNTS SHOW

Their books balanced by farm management men at the Ohio State University, 28 farms in southern Ohio showed an average labor income of only $237. This was by the farm accounting method now standard.

Then a further survey was taken of produce, roof, and firewood supplied by these farms to their 28 families. Such things generally are not considered in farm bookkeeping.

Conservatively valued at country prices, each farm was found to supply an average of $578.59 in "living" to the family. This raised the average farm family income to about $816.

Then the investigators went into the markets of Portsmouth, a city nearby, and got retail prices, and city rental figures. At this rate, they found that each of the 28 farms was supplying its family $1203.97 worth of "living" a year.

Thus it appears that these 28 farm families which show on their books as making $237 a year, would in even a small city have to make $1440 a year to live in as good a house, and to have as much food as they do now.

Says R. F. Taber, who ran the survey, "An income of $1440 is not enough, especially if one considers that the farmwife and perhaps some of the children help make it. But all is not yet lost and much howling heard today is based on incomplete figures and unjustified."

SEVENTEEN YEAR LOCUST APPEARS IN TWO TOWNSHIPS OF GREENE COUNTY THIS YEAR

The unexplainable phenomenon of the 17-year locust which is making its appearance over the country, has been only noticed in two Greene County localities, by County Agent Ford S. Prince, Caesarcreek and Spring Valley Townships.

The 17-year locust is one of the freaks of nature that has never been fully explained according to authorities on insect life. Eggs of the locust are laid on the underneath side of a tree limb, in a groove worn by the locust, and which eventually causes the limb to drop from the tree, and the tree to die. The eggs hatch in about three weeks and the grubs drop to the ground, where they remain for a period of 17 years, and then awaken to cast off their shell and continue the routine.

The insect does not eat during its entire period of life and comes to life after the 17-year hibernation, in the adult stage.

The main damage of the locust is in laying the eggs in the trees, the insect only attacking young trees and orchards, where the bark is the most tender. Swarms

FARM AGENTS WILL MEET IN CONFERENCE AT WOOSTER JUNE 26

County Agent Ford S. Prince will attend the Wooster Conference, a session of Farm Bureau representatives and extension workers, to be held June 26, 27, and 28 at Wooster, Ohio.

The first session will open at nine o'clock, with an explanation of the new co-operative marketing law, by H. S. Ballard. "Future Organization Plans for Community Marketing," and an open discussion will feature the remainder of the morning meeting. The various phases of Community Marketing Plans, including livestock, dairying, wool, grain, fruit and vegetables, and eggs, with a talk on co-operative purchasing will include the afternoon program.

L. B. Palmer, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, will preside at the Wednesday sessions. Discussions on national plans for commodity marketing, and the relation of extension service to commodity marketing, with an open forum, will include Wednesday morning's program. The chief topic of discussion in the afternoon will be commodity marketing in relation to Farm Bureau work.

Thursday's session will be devoted to the inspection of the work of the Ohio Experiment station.

TO DISPLAY COOKER

A demonstration on the construction of a home-made fireless cooker was held by County Agent Ford S. Prince at the home of Mrs. Henry Weller, Sugar Creek Township, Friday afternoon.

A similar demonstration was held Saturday afternoon at the Bank building in Cedarville, for the women of Cedarville Township.

of the insects attack only wooded lands, and their damage is largely felt.

Greene County suffered from a severe outbreak of the insects three years ago, practically every wooded farming community being attacked.

There are also locusts of the one-year variety, and the less numerous variety which appears once every 13 years, and some are thought to come every seven years. The 17-year locust is the most destructive of them all, however.

WHEN FARMING PAYS

An Analysis of the Economic,
Political and Social Conditions Which Make
Farming Profitable

By Leonard P. Bennett
KEEPING ACCOUNTS

Keeping accounts is not altogether pleasant work; for one reason because it involves much detail and some mastery of mathematics; and for another reason because it reveals many weak spots which the farmer might cheerfully persuade himself did not exist.

Accounts, in the beginning, are something like that long dreaded visit to the dentist. The dentist seems always to find a cavity, hence the reluctance to consult him. Yet there is all the more reason for the visit. The ultimate benefit outweighs all transient considerations. When the dentist gets the jump on decay and the patient tries prevention, the visits become less painful and expensive, if not less frequent.

Accounts are the dentist of business farming who pokes his instruments into tender places and discovers the decay. A carefully kept set of books will show whether the farmer is marking off enough depreciation, whether he is paying too much for his fertilizer and supplies in comparison with other years, how much his men are producing and whether his yield is proportionate to the expense in time and labor. The farmer may find that instead of making money he is losing it, but the discovery, while unwelcome, is nevertheless wholesome. Forewarned is forearmed. A general reorganization is usually possible in time to save the enterprise.

Farmers in some 1,200 counties kept accounts of the expense, labor and profit connected with their operations during 1922, according to reports to the department of Agriculture.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION

The construction of hard-surfaced roads is proceeding this year in about the same amount as last year, with wages generally higher. Designation of the system of Federal aid highways is now completed in 33 states and practically complete in most of the others.

Thirty states now have a gasoline tax, as compared with four at the beginning of 1921. Most of the revenue goes into road maintenance. Government officials regard the placing of a larger burden of expense upon road users as a step in the right direction.

PANIC OF 1873

Old-timers relate stories of the panic of 1873 that contrast strangely with the present conditions in this country.

Currency inflation led to the panic. "Shin plasters" flooded the country, and business concerns even went so far as to issue tokens,

FOUR COUNTIES ARE REPRESENTED AT MEET

Fayette, Clifton, Greene, and Montgomery Counties, comprising the 19th Farm Bureau district, were represented at the district meeting held at the Greene County Farm Bureau office in this city, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Schoenberger, of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, and B. A. Wallace, of the Extension Department of the Ohio State University, were among the Farm Bureau representatives present at the meeting. The chief topic of discussion during the meeting was co-operative marketing.

which they themselves redeemed. There was an era of high prices.

Then special payments were resumed. Shoes, for instance, dropped from $4.50 to $2.50 a pair in three months. Merchants and manufacturers who were overstocked, failed in large numbers.

Germany, by debasing the mark, is inviting financial collapse. Repudiation seems inevitable. Comparatively few farmers have invested (or rather speculated) in the ill-fated mark, there is reason to believe, and so farmers will not lose heavily.

URBAN POPULATION

Urban population suffered during the financial depression two years ago and tens of thousands went back to the small towns or the country. Now the tide is moving in the opposite direction. Factories are paying high wages and building contractors are bidding against each other for unskilled labor. When the counter movement will begin none can say. Nevertheless it is incapable.

OHIO CROP OF FRUIT ABOUT 75 PER CENT IS PRESENT INDICATION

Present conditions of the apple, peach and other fruit crops indicate a 75 per cent or three-quarter crop this year in Ohio, according to Statistician West, of the State Federal crop reporting service, this week. Blackberry and raspberry prospects are good, he said.

"The outlook for fruit this year is much above last year for the condition a year ago was 60 per cent. The crop of summer apples will probably, not be so large as last year, because fewer buds were set after last year's heavy crops of early apples," Statistician West declared.

Seventy-five per cent is a little too high for the crop percentage in Greene County according to the opinion of County Agent Price. Mr. Prince does not believe there will be as much fruit on the whole as last year.

Many varieties of apples were hurt by the late frost according to Mr. Prince, while others were not damaged. The late spring was favorable rather than harmful to the fruit crop, the County Agent said, as it kept the bugs back. A progressive March and snow in May would have resulted in no fruit at all, he said.

HAS WINNING FLOCK OF CHICKENS AGAIN

Miss Helen Finney, daughter of E. E. Finney, of Cedarville Township, who had the highest producing flock of Buff Rock hens in the state during March, for the flocks of that breed on 400 demonstration farms, again led in the score for April with the same flock, according to figures received at the County Farm Bureau office.

Miss Finney's egg production during that month was 59.3 eggs per hen. Joseph Harner of near Osborn, Bath Township, had the fifth highest flock among the demonstration flock owners, of the state, with an egg production of 22.1 per hen for the month. The flock was of the White Leghorn breed.

HOLD DEMONSTRATION

A worm capsule demonstration was held on the farm of L. H. Hartley, Bath Township, Thursday afternoon. J. N. Springs, of that township was in charge of the demonstration.
